Jets Return To Hanoi Bridge

Reds Claim Downing Of Seven U.S. Planes

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes attacked the Hanoi area Saturday for the second successive day, and Communist ground fire downed two American planes.

Air Force pilots also reported seven engagements with Communist MIG-17 interceptors over Hanoi.

The U.S. Command said there were no aircraft shot down on either side during the dogfights. Saturday's raid near Hanoi was on a railroad and highway bridge crossing the Des Rapides Canal five miles northeast of the center of the city. U.S. Air Force pilots said their bombs hit the center and northeast sections of the bridge, but heavy Communist defenses, bomb dust and clouds prevented an exact damage assessment.

Communist sources said Saturday's attacks near Hanoi comprised six raids over a 17-hour period and they claimed that more than 100 of the city's residents were killed or wounded.

Radio Hanoi declared seven U.S. planes were shot down and several pilots captured. The official Soviet news agency Tass, reporting the civilian casualties in a North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry dispatch, said the U.S. planes bombed and strafed the Long-Bien bridge spanning the Red River.

The reference was to the local name for the mile-long bridge between Hanoi and the Gia Lam suburban district that has been known since French colonial days as the Doumer Bridge. U.S. Air Force pilots bombed the bridge for the first time Friday and said they cut the center span.

The Doumer railroad-highway bridge provides a key transportation link between Hanoi and Red China.

The North Vietnamese, charging that residential areas within and on the outskirts of Hanoi, were hit, denounced that foray as "a new and extremely serious escalation" of the war.

Coordinated Viet Cong attacks on four South Vietnamese army posts in the northern border province of Quang Tri prompted speculation they might signal another period of stiff fighting below the demilitarized zone.

Both U.S. Marines and government troops are under heavy pressure there from strong Communist units that intelligence officers believe will try to launch an offensive before the summer ends.

Government spokesmen said the compound at Trieu Phong, two miles northwest of Quang Tri City, was the hardest hit. The guerrillas penetrated the defense line, inflicted heavy casualties on the 100-man garrison and wounded two Australian advisers.

The spokesmen said government losses elsewhere were light. The attacks were reported to have cost the Viet Cong at least 41 dead.

Elsewhere in the ground war, American spokesmen said there was no significant contact reported in 35 allied operations.

A Marine battalion landing team from the U.S. 7th Fleet's amphibious ready group was called off a sweep it opened last Monday in the northern 1st Corps area. Called Beacon Gate, the operation had failed to locate any sizable enemy units. Final casualty figures were listed as 2 Marines killed and 12 wounded and 13 of the enemy killed.

U.S. B-52 bombers struck twice at Red targets in South Vietnam. The eight-engine jets dumped tons of explosives on what was described as an enemy troop concentration in coastal Phu Yen Province, about 230 miles northeast of Saigon, and

Train Collision 'At Worst Time' — Only 2 Killed

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — A pre-dawn collision of a Montreal-bound passenger train Saturday "couldn't have come at a worse time," but most of the 300 passengers escaped injury. Two were killed, 12 persons required hospital care and others were cut or bruised.

A Delaware & Hudson Railroad spokesman said the carrier's Montreal Limited, taking many of the passengers to Montreal's Expo 67, struck the side of a 100-car, southbound, D & H freight about five miles south of this racing and resort city.

The cause of the collision was not determined, the spokesman said. But, he added, "it couldn't have come at a worse time, since the passenger train carries its heaviest load of the week to Montreal on that run."

One of those killed was Kristian Jelsens, 65, of Bergen, Norway, a businessman traveling to Montreal with his son, Alto, who was not injured.

Also killed was Sidney Kirch, 49, of New York City. Police declined to estimate the number of injured. Unofficial estimates ranging up to 40 could not be confirmed.

Saratoga Hospital reported 10 persons taken there. Six were admitted, five in satisfactory condition and the other, a nun, in fair condition.

Ellis Hospital in Schenectady said it had treated and discharged the engineer and the fireman of the passenger train.

Wally Barber, an ambulance-driver from Malta, near here, told a reporter he was one of the first at the crash scene shortly after 4 a.m. and "everything was all broken up."

"I don't know how anyone ever lived through it," he said. (Turn To Page Six)

Crewman Taken By Red Guards From Russ Ship

MOSCOW (AP) — Chinese Red Guard mobs attacked a Soviet ship for the second day in a row Saturday, carried a seaman ashore and threatened to make "short shrift" of the whole crew if still another crewman was not turned over to them, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

The news agency said the Chinese smashed equipment of the merchant ship Svirsk in the Manchurian port of Dairen. The vessel was said to have docked there July 22 to pick up a cargo of salt.

Tass reported Friday that the ship's captain, Viktor Korzhov, was seized and beaten up by screaming mobs who manhandled the crew and wrote anti-Soviet threats on the vessel's walls. The agency said the Chinese dragged Korzhov back to the dock Saturday and taunted him.

"The crew of the ship is besieged and cannot come to his rescue," a Tass correspondent reported from the Soviet Far Eastern port of Vladivostok. "An enormous mob is raving on the embankment" near the ship, he said.

Tass said the crew attempted to resist the Chinese who took a seaman identified as Kuznetsov off the vessel. It said the mobs also demanded that Stanislav Givanov, the second navigator, be surrendered to them.

Tass said Chinese authorities detained the Svirsk in a "lawless and arbitrary move."

In a strong protest note delivered Friday to the Chinese charge d'affaires in Moscow, the Soviet government said many in a mob of 1,000 Chinese stormed on board the ship in the presence of Chinese officials and "with their direct connivance."

The note, one of the harshest in a recent series of Chinese-Soviet exchanges, accused the Chinese of deliberate provocations intended to complicate relations between the two Communist nations.

Among other things, the Soviet Union has accused China this year of holding a Soviet ship in Dairen for 20 days last December.

Ky Invites Senators To View Voting

SAIGON (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said Saturday U.S. congressmen are unfairly accusing him of rigging the election. He said they should come and see for themselves.

"People stay a thousand miles away from Vietnam and then talk about me," Ky said during a trip in the Mekong Delta. "They should come, look, see and then afterwards have their own ideas."

Ky is the vice presidential candidate on the ruling military junta's ticket headed by Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu. Thieu and Ky are expected to win the Sept. 3 election.

"I hope the senators and congressmen come out here," Ky said, "particularly Fulbright, Mansfield, Morse and all the so-called opposition."

He referred to Sens. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark.; Mike Mansfield, D-Mont.; and Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

Senate leaders rejected Friday an invitation by Thieu to send observers to the election. Mansfield, the Democratic leader, said any guarantee of fairness is up to the South Vietnamese government. Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Congress would be open to election-rigging charges if it sent observers.

Accusations concerning the conduct of the Vietnamese political campaign developed after the 10 civilian candidates, flying in a government plane, missed

Chinese Attack British Guards Near Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP) — Communists from Red China swarmed across the Hong Kong border Saturday and attacked British police and guards with stones. They were repulsed by volleys of tear gas and Hong Kong officials moved more troops up to the tense 17-mile border.

Before being driven back, the Chinese smashed through doors in one building and daubed anti-British slogans on the walls at Sha Tau Kok, the village that straddles the border.

Hundreds of Gurkha soldiers, the British army's best mercenaries from Nepal, took up guard positions at Sha Tau Kok.

This was the village where a mob from Red China shot and killed five Hong Kong border police July 8. A government official said the border situation is "the most serious and dangerous" since that date.

Border patrols were reinforced at Man Kam To and Ta Kwu Ling, two small roadcrossing stations where Communist Chinese broke through British barricades Friday and assaulted Hong Kong police and British troops.

LBJ Counting On Successful Viet Elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, caught in a cross-fire between Senate doves and hawks, is gambling that the Vietnam elections will turn out better than expected and that he can fend off demands for intensified bombing.

While the doves are complaining that the Sept. 3 elections are likely to become a fraud, the hawks are mounting a campaign to force intensified bombing on North Vietnam.

In this uproar, supporters of Johnson's limited-war policies seem largely to have gone underground temporarily. They have been reading polls that indicate a majority of the people are not satisfied with the way the war is going. Most of them are keeping quiet to see what happens.

Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader, made it clear the administration is banking heavily on the outcome of the September balloting to silence critics who say the United States should get out of Vietnam if the Saigon military regime perpetuates itself by rigging the election.

Long put into the record a statement urging his colleagues not to expect too much from a people struggling to "lay the first foundation stones of a democratic system."

The assistant leader said he gathers that critics who spoke at length in the Senate Friday are "unhappy that full fledged democracy has not suddenly been born in the trouble country of Vietnam."

"They seem to expect the Vietnamese to do in a few months what we and others have been trying to do for nearly two centuries—not always with unblemished success," he said.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., insisted that something more is needed than just sending observers to South Vietnam. A Saigon government invitation to have a congressional delegation observe the campaigning and voting was rejected by leaders of both parties.

Kennedy said in an interview that American diplomatic and press representatives can be counted upon to report fully and fairly on the campaign and election. He said such reports indicate the elections "already may have become fraudulent."

PULITZER WINNER, MISS FORBES, DIES

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Prize winning author and actress Miss Esther Forbes died Saturday at the Memorial Hospital.

In private life Esther Hoskins, she won many literary awards including the 1942 Pulitzer Prize for history for "Paul Revere and the World He Lived In."

Miss Forbes also received the "John G. Tremain" Award for Young and Old. It was later made into a movie by Walt Disney.

Her books were translated into 10 languages and many were reprinted in paperback form.

Red China Purge Achieving Little

TOKYO (AP)—The scorecard for Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution is far from being "hao," the Chinese word meaning "good."

This is the majority opinion among China watchers in Japan.

A year ago Saturday Mao wound up the 12-day 11th plenum of the Communist party's Central Committee which spelled out guidelines for the cultural revolution, or purge.

After the plenum the 73-year-old leader threw the purge into full play with his teen-age Red Guards leading the way.

Looking back, China watchers say President Liu Shao-chi, Mao's archenemy, and his followers proved themselves so well entrenched in power organs as to weather the onslaught of the Red Guards by the end of last year.

From the beginning of this year, they point out, Mao had to reverse himself and threw in the army to weed out Liu's men and let Maoists take their place.

As a formula to seize power from Liu's followers, Mao advocated a revolutionary committee-provisional supreme power organ based on an alliance among army men, party cadres and local Maoist revolutionaries.

China watchers, however, say records show Mao's formula has run into stiff resistance from on the basis of information from mainland China: Out of 26 provinces and autonomous regions in China, Maoist revolutionary committees have been established only in four provinces—Heilongjiang, Shanxi, Shansi and Kwelchow.

Shanxi and Kwelchow plus the cities of Peking and Shanghai. Army units have taken more or less control of eight provinces—Hopeh, Kiangsu, Anhwei, Hupeh, Chekiang, Kiangsi, Hunan and Kwangtung.

But the matter came up when Chafee was asked what his reaction would be if Gov. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts entered the New Hampshire primary as a quasi-favorite son candidate.

"Gov. Romney has indicated that if he went in he would hope Volpe would not. I share that sentiment. I think Volpe would detract greatly."

Romney said that he expected by next weekend to have a firm

Landslide Kills Father; Children OK

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—The father of four children has been killed while climbing a mountain with them high in the Oregon Cascades.

The children waited through Friday night until early Saturday morning to be rescued, and his wife waited at a ranger station miles away without knowing his condition.

The Lane County sheriff's office said a ground party found J. George Schultz of Sacramento, Calif., dead and one son injured.

A helicopter flew the body and the children to Eugene, Ore., Saturday where the injured boy, Robert G., 11, was reported in fair condition with a gash on his head and an ankle injury.

The other children were Marie, 10, Paul, 8, and Tommy, 7. A brother of Schultz, Robert J. Schultz of Corvallis, said he was with the family, which was climbing along a glacier on the 10,470-foot middle peak of the Three Sisters mountain group in Central Oregon. He said a landslide knocked the others 200 feet down a glacier and into some rocks.

The brother said he was on a ledge above the rest and couldn't tell exactly what happened.

He ran several miles to his car and drove to Sisters, Ore., to report the accident to a U.S. Forest Service ranger station. He then led a rescue team to the scene, arriving there about 6 a.m. Saturday.

A sheriff's deputy said the brothers had been teaching the children how to climb mountains.

The Three Sisters peaks, all above 10,000 feet, are about 85 miles east of Eugene and 35 miles west of Bend.

Economic News Aids Surcharge Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's forces, heading for a showdown with an unhappy Congress on increasing taxes, have picked up some last-minute ammunition in the form of favorable economic news.

The administration is sending to the opening hearing Monday by the House Ways and Means Committee its first-string fiscal team—Secretary of the Treasury Henry G. Fowler, Chairman Gardner Ackley of the Council of Economic Advisers and Budget Director Charles L. Schultz.

To back up their arguments that the national economy is strong enough to stand a 10 percent surcharge of individual and corporate income taxes and postponement of excise reductions they can cite a series of upward-pointing developments.

Of 21 economic indicators culled from business statistics, 17 now point upward. A final bonus was a Commerce Department report that, for the first time in six years, manufacturing and trade inventories have declined.

The buildups of the stocks of unsold goods, getting in the way of new factory output, had been one of the main reasons for doubting government experts' predictions that economy would bob upward during the remaining months of 1967.

Johnson's surcharge proposals would mean tax increases like these, selected from Treasury computations:

For a married man with two children earning $5,000, no increase over what he paid last year; for the $7,500 family, $69 more; for the $10,000 family, $111 more; for the $20,000 family, $316 more.

With few exceptions outside the Democratic leadership, congressional reaction to such proposals has ranged from outright opposition to statements that the administration will have to convince the lawmakers.

Johnson's major argument with the lawmakers has been that a deficit potentially approaching $30 billion simply cannot be tolerated. He contends it would touch off inflation more costly to the average family than the tax.

A major argument against the surcharge—advanced, among others, by the chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.—has been that a tax increase might depress the economy and thus defeat its own purpose.

Proxmire argues the economy is riddled with soft spots and is not operating at capacity and that the drain of purchasing power caused by tax hike could push the economy downward, increase unemployment and reduce tax revenues.

In a strong protest note delivered Friday to the Chinese charge d'affaires in Moscow, the Soviet government said many in a mob of 1,000 Chinese stormed on board the ship in the presence of Chinese officials and "with their direct connivance."

Indians' Job Progress

Though there has been much recent emphasis on minority group employment problems, little has been said about the American Indian. The Indian's plight remains serious—in some cases desperate—but progress is being made with growing momentum.

The average reservation Indian, particularly in the Southwest, is no longer a nomad. If he cannot be educated and employed on the reservation, the chances are that he will go through life illiterate and jobless. This constitutes a challenge to the Bureau of Indian Affairs. It has responded with a job development program which has great promise if it can be sufficiently expanded.

The Bureau reports that, through cooperation with industry, 100 new plants have been built on Indian property since 1960. This has created some 1,700 jobs for Indians. It is a start, though as yet a small one, toward using the free enterprise system as a tool to deal with social and economic problems which are worse than those suffered by any other ethnic group in the nation.

As an example of what is being done, consider the Cherokee reservation in Tennessee where 300 Indians are employed in making quilted products and women's hair accessories. As a result the unemployment rate stands at 20 per cent—still high by normal standards, but low in contrast with the national range of 50 to 70 per cent among Indians. Similar patterns are emerging in New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and Utah.

The efforts are geared to teaching the Indian a skill, making him self-supporting, eventually removing him from the status of a government ward. The plan is only getting under way; the employment of Indians in industry is still relatively small. But the future plans of many firms to locate plants on or near the reservations promises a better future for the Indian.

The Waning Butterfly

Butterflies are on the wane in the United States. The decline has been evident for some years, and it has gotten so that butterflies are something to remark on in many urban areas where they were commonplace not long past.

No one is quite sure why this has come about, though the experts seem agreed that the butterfly population is down perhaps as much as 75 per cent. For awhile the most popular theory among both laymen and scientists was that the growing use of insecticides was to blame. Now many entomologists are coming around to the view that not chemicals alone but the whole process of urbanization — the spread of man's works that destroys the breeding and living sites of butterflies — is responsible.

There is some comfort in knowing that the experts are trying to discover why these colorful fluttering creatures no longer grace many residential areas. They may find a way to stem the decline. But if the very spread of civilization is doing the damage, it looks as though the time may soon come when anyone who wants to show his child a butterfly will have to go far afield.

Wave Of Riots Is Damper On Congress' Exuberance

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Humor has always been an integral part of the Washington scene — the politicking, the decision making.

In the White House, in the Pentagon, on Capitol Hill, in the State Department, there's always a good story or a good line or a funny scene every week — something to spread through the halls for a good laugh and something for reporters and newscasters to pepper their work for "a lighter touch."

But because of Newark and Detroit, Milwaukee and the threat of the next ghetto riot, humor today in Washington is hard to find.

"I haven't laughed in two weeks," said Rep. Albert Quie (R-Minn.).

Some try. The multitude of newsletters and other politically partisan publications which come out here weekly still contain their "humor" features.

Take two items from the Republican Congressional Committee Newsletter, for example:

"LBJ says riots and civil disturbances will not be tolerated. Encouraged maybe — but not tolerated."

"The same administration that plans Vietnam strategy is now trying to cope with domestic riots. Vietnam, of course is the 'longest war.' Now it looks as though this will be the 'endless summer.'"

On a "normal" week, dealing with a "normal" political issue, the two GOP jibes at President Johnson would have evoked the usual chuckles. Lately it is not the same.

So it was in the Congress when House comedians were out full force in the debate over whether to debate the now infamous "Rat Bill."

This measure, which would have provided $40 million over two years to help exterminate disease-carrying, crop-destroying rats in the slums and on the farms, was beaten, in effect, rather soundly.

The debate to debate the "Rat Bill" took place while Newark snouldered. Congress, in turning back the appropriation, was not saying that rats in the ghettos are not a problem. It was saying that there is enough antirats money already, and that it was a state and local problem, not a federal one.

Newark answered that rats were one of many ghetto ills and needed immediate attention, no matter where it came from.

Still, the chaos of Newark wasn't yet in perspective and the tragedy of Detroit was still to come. Congress laughed in the Rat Bill debate. It hasn't since.

"I think it would be a rat smart thing to vote this down rat now," said one congressman on the House floor.

Said a Democrat: "Too expensive. This outlay, all things considered, comes to about $6 per rat to exterminate them."

"How about snakebite cases?" another in the House debate snickered. "How about bugs? Are we to forget about people bitten by bugs? Should we start a bug corps?"

Another got up and chortled that in his district, there was one llama bite recorded last year.

So Congress had a laugh that day and so did some who saw it, talked about it, reported it or read it.

But that was while Newark was just lighting up. It was before Detroit, Milwaukee . . .

"Cross That One Off the List—It's Not Safe"

Washington

Inspiring U.S. Leaders, Arise!

By BRUCE BLOSSAT,
Washington Correspondent,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — At midpoint in another turbulent summer, the United States reveals itself starkly as virtually barren of truly uplifting national leadership.

This capital, of course, has been talking about both the dimly partisan Republican response to the Detroit riot and the obvious political overtones of President Johnson's midnight message ordering in the troops.

Yet these were really just rather pathetic new manifestations of a leadership lack which is much more profound and far-reaching in American society.

No important part of the community is exempt from the indictment — not the politicians, the businessmen, the churchmen, the intellectuals, the students.

From almost none of these is there ever an expression moving idealism, of genuine inspiration, of a call to action beyond the narrow limit of selfish human concern.

The tone of American politics tends consistently to be petty and mean-spirited. The gauge is small. Issues are treated either in frayed generalities or painfully cramped specifics. The deeper realities are seldom touched.

How many politicians, for instance, have spoken with telling force of the horrifying chasm between the aspirations of struggling Negroes and the real prospect, which is glacially slow improvement?

This may well be the overriding fact of the Negro crisis. Yet well-meaning senators think they have said something when they say lack of jobs is at the root of the Detroit holocaust. Well, yes, of course. The question is how to find them or make them. In the face of grimly rising Negro unemployment, the massive volume of jobs required for mostly untrained men presumes a kind of minor revolution in the American economy. The need is surgery, not aspirin.

Similarly, some white politicians and Negro spokesmen talk as if a wand could be waved and millions of disadvantaged Negroes, at a stroke, could be properly schooled and housed. Not even a torrent of white money could wave that wand. Nor could a Negro guerrilla army, somehow triumphant over an overwhelming white majority, bring it off.

But if the politicians have failed to talk in the deeper realities, so the leaders in the U.S. economic community have generally failed to sense the depth of the dilemma.

Their part of the burden of failure is greater still. For they and their predecessors have told all Americans with mounting clamor that they could have a world of ease and comfort, a world mostly of material things, for just pennies a week — at fingertip control.

The Negroes' aspirations today are tragically infused with these notions. The deprived Negro's calamity is not just that he has so little to lose he will risk life in a street riot, but that he will risk it for shallow gains that for a mere moment put him on the plane where the "American dream" is supposedly being made real.

American intellectuals and students, traditionally the well-springs of idealism that can lift life beyond the grossly material, are perhaps the most shocking failures of all. There is almost nothing of human dignity and high-spirited purpose in their words and deeds today.

If there is any idealism in their protest against the Vietnam war, many of them — adults and young alike — have perverted it in resort to storm-trooper violence, cheap sloganeering and generally animalistic behavior. Preaching defiance of law, honoring falsehood and deception, many are patently not uplifters but degraders of American society. They, beyond all, poison the reservoir of urgent idealism a nation must draw upon to meet a crisis of such huge proportions as the American racial struggle of this day.

All-Night Guests Embarrass Teen

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Do you have any advice for a high school girl whose mother is always bringing strange men home? My father is dead and I realize my mother is lonely but I think she should not entertain men all night when she has a teenage daughter. It is terribly embarrassing to wake up in the morning and meet a stranger wandering around the apartment.

I can't have a boy friend in after a date because I don't know what we might find when I open the front door. I wouldn't dream of asking a girl friend to spend the night with me because I never know who might show up at the breakfast table.

I have one year and a half before I can leave and go into nurses training. But what do I do until then? —NO PLACE LIKE HOME

Dear No Place: Of course it is disgraceful that your mother shows such little consideration for you or respect for herself, but her outrageous behavior is an indication of how mentally disturbed she is.

Your mother needs professional help. Let's hope someone will steer her to it. As for you, I'm sure you'll live through the next 18 months O.K. You sound like a young lady who has her head on straight.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me what to do about a husband who cannot stand to let his wife enjoy a telephone conversation?

If I am upstairs talking to a friend, or to my mother or my sister, my husband gets on the extension and clicks until I hang up. Sometimes he will walk past me and holler, "Get off the phone, your three hours are up" — or something equally rude. It isn't that HE wants to use the phone, it's just that he hates to see me enjoy myself.

I do my housework, cook good meals — nothing is neglected, least of all him. Please tell me how to deal with my 34-year-old problem. —NO PHONY

Dear No Phony: Your husband is a spoiled noodnik who feels left out if he is not the center of your world.

Whenever possible, do your telephoning when he is away. Before you make what may turn into a chatty call, ask the big baby if HE wants to use the phone. Offer to get him a cup of coffee, an apple or a good book. Tell him you are making a call and you don't want to be interrupted. If he clicks the receiver or yells into the phone after that, simply ignore him, make no apologies for him, and show no anger.

Dear Ann Landers: I lost my sight when I was eight years old and I have a wife and three children.

It's very hard for a blind man to make a living because nobody wants to hire me. So

We live in an age of smokeless zones, central heating and better housing, but we keep that symbol of sickness, the double bed. —Town Councilman Ernest Brauer, 58, of Spennymore, Ireland, suggesting single beds for married couples to help prevent colds.

Man Insists On Making Echoes

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — In a civilization that idolizes conformity, it's amazing how many people still manage to get into trouble.

All they have to do is open their mouth and put their foot into it.

Silence is golden today not because it will make you rich but because it may help to keep you safe.

But man, at any price, insists on making echoes. He can't be happy unless he hears the sound of his own voice, even if it were far better for his welfare if he kept still.

Here, for example, are a few remarks that can't possibly bring anything but more woe into your life:

"Let me have that wrench. I think I know how to fix it."

"Marvin is one of my best pals, Jane, and I can't believe he'd treat his own wife shabbily, particularly when she's as pretty as you are. Why don't you let me take you to lunch and you can tell me all about it?"

"Look, officer, I was driving an automobile when you were still trying to learn how to ride a tricycle, so don't try to tell me what the rules of the road are."

"Let's put a little action into the game by making the deuces, er."

"Of course I still love you. What do you want me to do to prove it?"

"Sure I like the new color of your hair. What color was it yesterday—blue?"

"Lemme just pour you another little one for the road, Jim. You say when."

"I hear you and Mabel spent

"your vacation bird watching in the Orkney Islands. What an original thing to do. Tell me all about it."

"You say you want me to buy you a chemistry set so you can build an atom bomb in our basement, son? Okay. I wouldn't want to stunt your scientific growth."

"According to the map, we should take the right fork here. But let's take the left fork and see if we don't get there quicker."

"I'll take whatever the chef has left in the kitchen that he's trying to get rid of."

"If I purchase a thousand shares of that oil stock on margin, I'd make even more when they went up, wouldn't I?"

"No wife of mine is ever going to go out in public wearing a miniskirt."

"No daughter of mine is ever going to date one of those long-haired guitar pluckers."

"It's such a picturesque old barn, Ronald. I'll bet we can get it for a song, and for another $2,000 or so convert it into a wonderful country place."

"Just heard over the radio a riot started on Third Avenue. Jump in the car, Joe, and we'll go over and see the excitement."

"Now don't forget—phone us any time you're in the city. We have simply loads of room."

"Well, if you don't like what I said, you know what you can do about it."

Yes, sir, nothing can get you in a jam quicker than an unbuttoned lip. Mankind's big mouth is still the world's greatest disaster area.

Journey to an Earthbound Moon

The pilot at left peers through a porthole and sees the moon looming amid a star-studded night in space. Countdown begins for a lunar landing, all while sitting in the safety of a converted airplane hangar at Belhpage, N.Y. There Grumman Aircraft Co. has developed a mock flight for training purposes, complete with appropriate craft attitude and space scenes projected on the space module window by television cameras.

An image of a star-filled night sky is created by televising a moving, spangled black globe. Besides causing pilot reaction to visual approaches, the system also makes demanding tests on equipment aboard the space craft.

A moonscape is scanned by television cameras for projection on the module window.

'Schmoltdville' Early Cass Industrial Park

By VIRGIL REITHER

BEARDSTOWN — The importance of the Illinois river and boats to Beardstown goes back to days long before 1829, when the town was established, and the names of a long list of paddle-wheelers, stern wheelers which burned wood and coal, steam and diesel powered craft would be familiar to older citizens here.

Mrs. Loka Schmoltd of the prominent "lumber family" here thinks, however, that there are few in town who will remember A. E. Schmoltd's "Eleonore," a paddle-wheeler used both for business and pleasure by the Schmoltd family in Beardstown's early days.

Located On River
The site of the present Recreation Park and Beardstown Marina was called "Schmoltdville" in the late 1890's and early 1900's and could have been designated Beardstown's industrial park, if that term had been a part of the vernacular in those days — for it was here that the Schmoltd Lumber & Co. plant was operated and where other industries associated with the river, such as ice and freight, also flourished.

The Lumber and Co. plant goes back to 1856 when it was a sawmill, and it had a history of success and many transfers through the years.

After buying out several partners Robert Schmoltd added a retail lumber yard which was first located at Third and Jefferson streets.

Named For Mother
A. E. Schmoltd's parents,

Robert and Johanna Eleonore Schmoltd were born and married in Germany, and it was for Mrs. Robert Schmoltd that the "Eleonore" was christened.

The "Eleonore" plied the Illinois river for several years, being used for hauling logs from the timbers along the waterway, and also as a pleasure boat.

Business and Pleasure
There was a full crew including a cook and Mr. A. E. himself was a pilot of note. His daughter-in-law recalls that the "Eleonore" was sometimes entered in races and on one memorable occasion the late A. E. Schmoltd, intending to pilot the "Eleonore" in a race, went the "enemy boat" for a conference only to have the race start with the "Eleonore" pilot on the wrong craft.

He always said of that race that he both won and lost.

The lumber yard and cooper-age produced slack barrel staves, hoops and headings and at one time about 200 were employed there. Many of the workers lived in company houses and traded at the general store, also company owned.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Sunday, Aug. 13, the 225th day of 1967. There are 140 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1521, the Spanish conqueror Hernando Cortez seized Mexico City from the Aztec Indians.

On this date:
In 1848, the American flag was first raised in Los Angeles.

In 1898, the Spanish surrendered Manila to American forces.

In 1910, the pioneer English nurse Florence Nightingale died. In 1930, a new air speed record was set when Capt. Frank Hawks flew from Los Angeles to New York in 12 hours and 25 minutes.

In 1944, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz predicted the Japanese might be forced to surrender without an actual invasion of their home islands.

Ten years ago—The Pentagon named a panel to choose between the Army Jupiter missile and the Air Force Thor missile. Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy rejected the idea of an immediate tax cut to spur the economy.

One year ago—The Communist party's Central Committee in China approved Mao Tse-tung's tough policies at home and abroad.

TICKETS AVAILABLE FOR YMCA TRIP

The YMCA announces that a limited number of reservations to the Cardinal-Cub baseball game Tuesday night, August 15 are available to the general public. A chartered bus will load at the YMCA that evening, beginning at 4:30 and will leave for St. Louis at 5 p.m. The cost will be $5 for ticket and transportation. No box lunch will be provided. Interested persons may contact the YMCA either by stopping in or by calling 3-1016.

Loose Dogs In Roodhouse Ban Mail Delivery

ROODHOUSE — Leroy Hopkins, postmaster of the Roodhouse Post Office, announced recently that, effective immediately, no mail will be delivered to homes where dogs are allowed to run loose.

This decision stems from the fact that several of the local carriers have been bitten, one of them severely last week. All persons not complying with this request will have to call at the post office for mail as it will not be left at the house.

Religion In The News

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A troubling problem which the Methodist Church has sought for years to straighten out by direct means — without success — appears headed for solution by an indirect process.

The result will bring the end of a racially segregated block within the denomination, after more than a decade of specific legislative moves failed to dislodge it.

"The iceberg," it's called by Leonard Slutz, a Cincinnati attorney and chairman of a church commission on the matter. He says it has been slowly "melting away at the edges" for years.

But the icebreaker that points the finishing blow came by a roundabout way — through regional votes ratifying a merger of the Methodist Church with a smaller sister body, the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Included in the constitutional provisions for the new United Methodist Church, whose 11 million members will make it the largest in Protestantism, is a special, unconditional item.

It prescribes the demise of Methodism's nettlesome, long-fought-over, embarrassing-to-many, defended-by-some system within a system — its racially defined Central Jurisdiction.

This is a separate Negro administrative unit, with Negro bishops overseeing Negro congregations and supervising Negro pulpits appointments. Territorially, it overlaps the church's several regional mainly white jurisdictions. Next week, Aug. 17-19, with its phasing out now required, it holds its final business meeting in Nashville, Tenn., to get ready for termination of its 38-year history.

That happens officially, under the merger terms, in April 1968, when the union of the two denominations formally comes into being.

The color-drawn jurisdiction dates back to 1939, a feature of the agreement by which the Southern and Northern branches of Methodism reunited after being divided since the Civil War.

Drawn-out controversy has accompanied the arrangement, particularly in Methodist General Conventions since 1956.

However, enabling measures for dissolving the separate Negro system have been subject to regional ratification, and this, to a large extent, has not been forthcoming.

Regional votes in the South, in some cases by Negro conferences themselves, have stalled the gradual, bit-by-bit procedures authorized in compromise plans for meshing the adminis-tration machinery, a part at a time.

Nevertheless, in some sections such as Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, regional conferences of the Negro jurisdiction have already left it and been integrated into the mostly white conference in those areas.

As a result of such fractional steps, the overlapping Negro jurisdiction has gradually shrunk. In 1964, it included 375,000 Negro members in 16 racially defined Central Jurisdiction state lines.

Now, however, it has only about 245,000 members in 12 regional conferences. These cover 13 Southern states. Additionally, it overlaps the church's several regional mainly white Negro congregations comprise with about 43,000 in the entire uniting church.

In any case, by next spring, the remaining Negro conferences will be shifted into the church's five regular geographical jurisdictions—and the racially separate jurisdiction abolished.

Restoration has begun in the Assembly Room of Independence Hall in Philadelphia, scene of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence and Constitution of the United States.

NEW BERLIN ARMY CAREER MAN IN KOREA

NEW BERLIN — M Sgt. W. Rudolph King arrived Saturday at Seoul, Korea, for a thirteen-month tour of duty with the Personnel Division, U. S. Army.

M Sgt. King has served 13 years with the Army, and was with the paratroopers during the Korean Conflict. In 1958, he graduated from the Eta Jima Personnel Management School, Eta Jima, Japan. During his military service, he has been based at Ft. Campbell, Ky.; Baltimore, Md.; Washington, D.C.; Hawaii; Philippines; An-niston, Ala.; Lansing, Mich.; Colorado Springs, Colo.; and the past three years at Ft. Leonard Wood, Jefferson City, Mo.

His wife, Eunice, and their daughter, Monica, will reside in New Berlin during his stay in the Korean Conflict. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl King of New Berlin.

UMBRELLA WEATHER is good news in the Bihar State in India, where rains are finally ending the long drought that has brought widespread starvation to the area, as well as other parts of the nation. Happily, these two farmers watch the parched earth soak up the rain, as their cattle graze on reawakened greenery.

Andrews Replies 'So I Lied' To Garrison Quiz

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Dean Andrews' startling statement to a grand jury - "So I lied" - was read into the record of his perjury trial Saturday by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's staff.

Andrews, 44, is accused of lying to the Orleans Parish grand jury investigating an alleged conspiracy here to kill President John F. Kennedy in 1963.

Testimony of his second appearance before the grand jury on June 27 was read to the five-man jury hearing his trial on a perjury charge.

"When you testified before the grand jury March 18, you knew Bertrand was Eugene Davis?" a Garrison aide asked Andrews at his June 27 appearance.

"So I lied," he replied. "I committed perjury. I don't know what I said. The man is Eugene Davis."

Garrison contends Clay Bertrand was an alias used by Clay L. Shaw, retired New Orleans businessman indicted on a charge of conspiracy to murder President Kennedy. Shaw, whose trial date has not been set, has denied ever using an alias or having any knowledge of such a conspiracy.

Andrews, 44, told the Warren Commission that a Clay Bertrand telephoned him the day after Kennedy's death on Nov. 22, 1963, and asked him to go to Dallas and represent Lee Harvey Oswald. Oswald was identified by the commission as the assassin.

Garrison claims that Andrews lied when he told the grand jury in March that he would not say whether Shaw and Bertrand were one and the same.

At his second appearance before the grand jury, Andrews identified Bertrand as Eugene Davis, operator of a night spot here, Davis later denied ever using the name Clay Bertrand.

Andrews said he didn't mention Davis' name the first time because, "I decided that it was not necessary for this man to be exposed to what I had been exposed. He was a client of mine."

Cepeda Again Trying To Sue Look Magazine

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Orlando Cepeda, St. Louis Cardinal first baseman, is trying again to sue for $1 million in a libel action stemming from a 1963 article in Look Magazine. Cepeda went to the U.S. Court of Appeals Friday for the second time, appealing a November 1966 U.S. District Court jury verdict that favored Cowles Magazines and Broadcasting, Inc.

Cepeda's attorney claimed in his opening brief that the judge in that trial, Stanley A. Weigel, set aside a previous appeals court order that said Look couldn't use the "fair comment" defense.

Weigel erred, the lawyer said, when he stated "the defendant is home free as long as there was no malice." The brief went over testimony at the trial, including that of Timothy Cohane, former Look sports editor and author of the Cepeda story. Cepeda was playing for the San Francisco Giants at the time.

Cepeda's brief contends there was no fair comment in the article and the issue is whether Cohane had factually quoted Cepeda's employer's appraisal of his ability as a ball player.

Cepeda's suit was once thrown out of court by U.S. District Judge Lloyd H. Burke on grounds it did not state a federal cause for action.

This was reversed by the appeals court, and the reversal was upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court.

then at a Communist base camp 70 miles north of the capital. The U.S. Command said the raid on the Doumer bridge, a tunnel for all railway traffic between Red China and Hanoi, was among 150 missions flown above the border Friday.

Barracks, missile sites and railway, road and water transport were among other targets. Navy Skyhawk pilots said they wrecked the Hai Duong military barracks, midway between Hanoi and Haiphong, in attacks pressed through heavy anti-aircraft fire.

Lt. Gary Hall, 27, of Fort Scott, Kan., remarked on returning to his carrier: "The troops at Hai Duong will be sleeping in tents tonight. There are no more barracks left."

In the political field eight civilian presidential candidates, assured by the military government of its intentions to provide adequate transportation and security, decided to drop a boycott and resume trips to the provinces Tuesday.

They had fired some criticisms at Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, who are running on the military ticket for the election Sept. 3, after a mixup on their first trip last Sunday. Two South Vietnamese air force C-47 transports bearing them to the small dirt airstrip at Quang Tri landed instead at Dong Ha, 10 miles away. Airmen said wind conditions prevented a landing at Quang Tri. The candidates headed back to Saigon in a huff.

Premier Ky said charges raised in the U.S. Congress that his government is rigging the election are unfair. American lawmakers have declined an invitation to send observers.

"People stay a thousand miles away from Vietnam and then talk about me," Ky said. "They should come, look, see and then afterwards have their own ideas."

The two engines of the passenger train and the first two cars, both sleeping cars, and fourteen cars of the freight train left the tracks. Some of the freight cars landed on top of the overturned sleeping cars.

The corridors were so telescoped that acetylene torches, saws and jacks were needed to reach the passengers.

Passengers in other cars said, however, that they did not realize the train had crashed until a conductor told them.

William Sheft, who lives near the crash scene, said he was awakened by what sounded like "a clap of thunder."

A minister said "it was a blessing to see people walk out."

James Canavan of Glens Falls, disaster chairman of District 3 of the New York State Ambulance Association, said 18 ambulances and 3 fire companies were summoned.

The crash occurred near Route 50, which links Saratoga Springs with Schenectady, but bulldozers were needed to cut a path through a gully and brush to the derailed cars so that some passengers could be freed.

Several freight cars broke open and spewed paper products across the tracks.

Most of the passengers later continued their trips in buses.

Laver, Ralston In Meet Finals

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) - Favorites Rod Laver and Dennis Ralston stormed into the finals of the $15,000 Colonial National Invitation Tournament Saturday.

The top-seeded Laver, displaying his customary finesse, whipped Pancho Gonzalez, one of the game's all-time greats, 9-7, 6-3. Gonzalez was seeded fourth.

Ralston, the No. 2 seed, banged out a 6-1, 6-8, 6-4 decision in a blistering match with third seeded Fred Stolle, the lanky Australian with the whistling serve.

Ralston, rookie sensation of the professional tour, and Laver, current ruler of the tour, clash for the championship Sunday night.

The winner will pocket $1,700. The runner-up will receive $1,250. Pancho Segura and Alex Olmedo gained the doubles final with a 6-3, 6-4 victory over the team of Butch Buchholz and Mike Davies. The Segura-Olmedo duo faces the top-seeded team of Laver and Stolle.

In the cavalcade of music contest, the Collettes of Granite City won first place in division one, a capella singing.

Linda Ohms of Glen Carbon was the best soloist in baton twirling.

Bender's Bee Ranch, Newman, won the sweepstakes trophy in professional bee and honey events.

Myra Lee Peak of rural Roodhouse backed her way to five blue ribbons and the governor's trophy as champion of cooks under 14 years of age. In the 14 to 19 years of age division, Pamela McKinley, of rural Kenney, was the winner.

CHICAGO (AP) - Lefty Ken Holtzman is using his first week-end pass from Fort Sam Houston in Texas to rejoining the Chicago Cubs and take on a pitching assignment in the opener of a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Phillies Sunday.

Holtzman's last game before being called into military service was a victory over Los Angeles May 20. He will be shooting for his sixth triumph. He has no losses this season.

their first scheduled public appearance last Sunday because of a mixup in landing fields near Guang Tri City. Most of the candidates said that the junta had sabotaged the trip and that they were pulling out of the speaking tour set up by the government.

Thieu expressed regret over the incident and denied the sabotage charge. Apparently mollified, eight of the candidates issued a statement Saturday that they would go back on tour starting Tuesday on condition that the government demonstrate "good will."

Presidential candidate Truong Dinh Dzu said he would present evidence at a news conference Monday that Thieu and Ky were preventing a fair and free election. Ky said all such charges were "plain ridiculous."

Ky announced a major change in the military hierarchy. He said Maj. Gen. Nguyen Duc Thang, head of the pacification program, would be promoted to chief of staff of the joint general staff, replacing Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Vy. No new pacification leader was named.

In the open competition with adults for the grand champion steer award for all breeds at the fair, Teen-agers have shown the winner in the open show the last seven years.

Saturday, which was Labor and Editor's Day at the Fair, will be followed Sunday by Veterans' day. This is usually the biggest crowd-drawer of the 10-day show because of the drum and bugle competition and free admission for veterans and their families.

Opening day Friday drew more than 100,000 for the first time and fair, cool, but sunny weather Saturday indicated another possible record-breaking gate. Admissions are usually announced the next day.

Havana Parley May Bring Push For Latin Power

HAVANA (AP) - A burst of fiery oratory from Fidel Castro has sent Latin America's leftists home to carry out the resolutions of revolt they adopted here last week. Observers say the result may be a fresh guerrilla surge for "Latin Power."

Whatever its long-term success, the first conference of the Latin American Organization of Solidarity gave Castro an unparalleled platform to expound his activist revolutionary line. Events were carefully arranged to make it that way.

The phrase "Latin Power" reflected the presence of Stokely Carmichael, Black Power advocate from the United States and Castro's prize exhibit at the 11-day meeting. The Communist prime minister called Carmichael "comrade" and urged U.S. Negroes to join Latin American leftists in a common revolutionary movement.

When the conference hit a lull early last week, the Cuban government brought out six captured exiles from Florida whom it accused of being agents of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency hired to kill Castro.

Before the meeting ended Thursday, Castro's partisans got the delegates from 27 hemisphere nations to declare support for the Communists in Vietnam. The Black Power movement in the United States and for guerrillas in Colombia, Bolivia, Venezuela and Guatemala.

The organization appears to be a better vehicle for revolution in the hemisphere than was the tricontinental anti-imperialist conference that spawned it here in January 1966. That meeting of 500 leftists from Asia, Africa and Latin America was plagued by the Soviet-Red Chinese ideological dispute.

This conference had its differences, too, between proguerrilla delegates and more moderate revolutionaries who were mostly members of established Communist parties.

But these differences were muted in a declaration that Castro's policy of armed revolution is basic but that less violent means are acceptable temporarily if they lead to the same end.

Castro appears to have caught the imagination of the hemisphere's young leftists with his slogan that the only real revolutionary is he who acts like one.

The conference's call for armed revolt was a slap at the Soviet policy of trade and peaceful co-existence in Latin America. Castro said in his closing speech that such a policy amounted to "deceiving the masses."

"I asked God for forgiveness for all I've done," Boyce said. When asked what he had done, he replied, "I cursed once in a while, never smoked or chewed."

Hospital authorities barred all but close family from seeing the boy after he was bathed and placed in bed. He was the lone occupant in a room with several beds.

He said he didn't care about all the national attention he was receiving. "It ain't worth it," Boyce said. "I'd rather be playing baseball or riding a bicycle."

When asked whether he would ever be going down a well again, he said, "I'd do it."

Katydid Calls Predict Frost In Six Weeks

JERSEYVILLE — There may still be a lot of hot, humid weather, before mid September, but just the same, old time weather prophets who yet study the signs they find in nature, declare that from a light to heavy frost may be expected in the lowlands of the area by September 15th.

The old timers are basing their prediction on the fact that the katydids began their nightly calls the past week. You can always count on cool weather six weeks from the time the species of insects begin their first mating calls old timers in the locality state.

There is considerable argument among old timers regarding the call which is supposed to sound something like, "Katy broke the bottle. She didn't. She did."

Some declare one insect is responsible for the entire jargon, but others insist the male call sounds like "Katy broke the bottle," and the females calling in response to the male's song sound as if they were saying, "She didn't. She did."

At any rate, if the katydid is a reliable weather prophet, early autumn is just around the corner.

North's jump to four hearts was designed to show just what he held. A minimum opening bid with very good hearts. South was interested in seven but was happy to settle for the small slam when his partner showed only one king.

When South saw the dummy he was rather unhappy about his contract. Not that it wasn't a good one but rather that he had the choice between several good lines of play.

He started by winning the spade lead in his own hand. Two rounds of trumps took care of that suit and he played his ace of diamonds. Then he entered dummy with the ace of spades and finessed a diamond. West was in with the queen.

If West had had a diamond to lead back South would have been set but West had to lead a club away from his king or a spade to give South a chance to ruff in dummy and discard his losing club.

North didn't like South's play. He suggested that it would have been better to play ace-king and another diamond in case the queen failed to drop on the second lead.

West felt that South should have left diamonds alone and played ace and another club.

All three lines of play are reasonable and all three would have worked the way the cards lie. At the risk of getting into a lot of trouble we will state that South did adopt the best line and leave you readers to study the problem if you wish.

NICHOLS PARK LADIES DAY GOLF NEWS

I don't know too much about the rain in Spain, but Toni Rayburn and I can tell you plenty about the rain at the Nichols Park Golf Course last Tuesday. We decided to play our match and pay no attention to the rain drops. Everything was fine until the floods came and trying to guide a cart, hold an umbrella, and keep your hat on was really something. We invite you to try it!

First round tournament matches were completed last week. Fran Chumley defeated Della Birdsell and will play Lucille Eberhardt who defeated Lucy James. Toni Rayburn is in the process of playing Marge Howard who defeated Keota Shouse one up in twenty-one holes. These matches must be completed before Tuesday.

Consolation playoff for those losing first round matches will begin Tuesday. Lucy James will play Keota Shouse and the winner will play Della Birdsell. Consolation matches will be only nine holes.

Next week's events include the longest drive on the second hole as well as the most 4's and 5's. Until then, "Please, Mr. Weatherman, bring us some sunshine!"

COME ONE - COME ALL - HAVE A BALL

Greek Soprano Coming To Met

By ERIC WAHA
Associated Press Writer
VIENNA (AP) — Jeanette Pilou, a fast-rising star of the Vienna State Opera, will go to the United States to sing her "dream part" at the Metropolitan and to discover America.

Afraid of what? "New York is so big and it frightens me," the dark-eyed soprano said. She is not afraid of the new Metropolitan, though. "I don't expect any difficulties," she said, "the acoustics there are very good, colleagues told me." She will arrive in New York in August. The soprano said she was looking forward to learn about the American way of life, American food and everything else she can discover.

American men? The pretty, unmarried singer said she heard they were very nice and attentive to women.

As to herself, she said she would have preferred to be blue-eyed and blonde like her father, and to be tall.

A blonde, blue-eyed Violetta? Brunette and glamorous, Miss Pilou seems to be ideal for the heroine of "La Traviata," which she calls "my dream part."

It will be her first role at the Metropolitan in November. The other will be Micaela in "Carmen" which is to come out in a new production at the Met. Miss Pilou will return to Vienna for performances at the State Opera in January, after a recital in Philadelphia.

While "La Traviata" was Miss Pilou's dream part, it was Mimi in "Boheme" which was the turning point in her career.

She was on vacation in Vienna in September 1965 when she was invited to give a guest performance in "Boheme" at the state Opera.

"The next day, my life changed," she recalled. "I think I did not sing any better than two years before that, but there were important people in the audience and they heard me."

From then on, she had the pick of parts. "I am very careful about the parts I accept," she said, "I don't want to tire and I don't want any parts which may be dangerous to my voice."

Miss Pilou, who refers to herself as "the other Greek singer" — the "one Greek singer," being Maria Callas — said "I don't suffer from excess of ambition. I want to sing the parts I like and to live well."

She added wistfully that sometimes a career and living well exclude each other.

Miss Pilou was born of Greek parents in Alexandria, Egypt. Ten years ago, she went to Milan and began studying singing. She had her debut in a small Milan theater in "La Traviata" in 1959.

"I did not like myself then," she said, "I did not fulfill the role of Violetta. Now I think I am Violetta."

After touring the Italian provinces and appearing in theaters in Portugal, Switzerland and Belgium, the guest appearance at the Vienna State Opera started her on an international career.

REV. JACK CLOUGH TO SPEAK AUG. 12 AT WHITE HALL

WHITE HALL — The First Christian church will have a guest pastor, Rev. Jack Clough of Gallatin, Mo., Sunday, Aug. 12th, at the 10:45 a.m. Worship Service. He will be accompanied by his wife. A carry-in supper will be given in their honor on Sat. night, Aug. 11th, at 6:00 p.m. at the church. All members and friends are urged to attend.

Mrs. Pearl Jolly was visited during the week by her niece, Mrs. Wilma Glass of Glasgow, Ky. and her nephew, Cecil Maggard and wife of Peoria, Ill.

Howard Lawson departed from Lambert Airport Sunday morning for Boston, Mass., where he will visit a nephew, Robert Beatty who resides in Vermont.

Homer Marshall is a medical patient at Holy Cross, Hospital, Jacksonville.

Steve Bell of Hayward, Calif., is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bell.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Nelson of Merritt Island, Florida have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Linker.

Mrs. Mabel Todd had a recent surprise visit from her son, AT-1 and Mrs. Donald Grimes, and their three daughters. AT-1 Grimes is making a career in the Naval Service and has just returned from participating in U.S. Navy Operation Deep Freeze, Antarctica, South Pole. He is now stationed at the Naval Air Base in Rhode Island.

MARIE HICKS RITES HELD IN WHITE HALL

WHITE HALL — Funeral services for Mrs. Marie Hicks were held Tuesday afternoon at the Dawdy-Wolfe Funeral Home in charge of Rev. Richard Shewmaker with Mrs. Carol Shive at the organ.

Pallbearers were Henry Pruitt, Clarence Dawdy Jr., Kenyon Cotter, Earl Eastham, Charles Swarrington and Harry Anthony. Interment was in the Pine Tree cemetery.

The world's first crude lamp probably appeared about 30,000 years ago. This was a shallow, soapstone lamp with animal-fat fuel, used by Cro-Magnon man for lighting his caves.

Stone tree trunks are so common near Piggott, Ark., that many have been used as tombstones.

MICHAEL OF LEONARD'S OF LONDON is literally the man behind Jean Shrimpton, in the beauty salon. Here he adds (upper left) a small, fake wiglet to Jean's own hair, making the base larger. He doesn't necessarily believe that hair pieces have to match one's own hair. "It sometimes makes an interesting design by mixing light and dark shades." Using varying shades (upper right) in tones of blonde and brown, he gives the Shrimp a sphinx-like look with layers of long braids looped from one side to the other.

"Instant Lawn" Catching On

SOD CUTTER—Ron Stevenson, co-owner in the Stevenson Sod Farm, starts his sod cutter into operation preparing to cut a strip of sod at the 20-acre location west of Jacksonville.

Stevenson Sod Farm "Growing"

"Instant lawn" may not be appropriately applied to the sod business, but it does seem to sell that little vine-covered cottage somewhat quicker.

"Most contractors agree," commented Ron Stevenson, an enterprising 19-year old, who is co-owner in the Stevenson Sod Farm at 2201 Mound Road.

With image appeal taking a more pronounced effect today, a new house, freshly landscaped with a beautifully sodded lawn entices a potential buyer ready to develop his "green thumb."

"Take a guy with three or four children," Stevenson noted, "a freshly seeded yard can't take a beating from children very long and survive. Or, if a rain comes along and turns it all to mud, or maybe washes out all the seed, he has to start all over at a considerable loss."

Although many persons interested in new homes or finer yards may think that a sodded lawn is expensive, Stevenson pointed out that in the long run, it will be easier to maintain if given proper care.

The Stevenson Sod Farm, handsomely enscribed in Old English Script on the firm's business card, began three years ago with the first seedling in the 20 acre plot.

Last year, young Stevenson said, he had five or six sodding jobs.

Looking over his records, he said, "As of today, we have had 24 jobs, and have used 5,500 square yards of sod."

Stevenson's seed comes from Chicago, "and is supposed to be 98 per cent weed free. If given proper conditions, it usually lives up to expectations."

Unique In Area
The local "turf nursery" is somewhat unique in this area of Illinois. Stevenson said that the only others are located in Quincy and Champaign.

"Most of the sod in Illinois comes from the Chicago area, and is grown in peat," Stevenson's sod is grown in 100 per cent Morgan county topsoil.

Because the Stevenson farm is one of the few in the area, it has a slight advantage, according to the youth. Chicago sod usually takes two to three days to get downstate after cutting, and according to Stevenson, sometimes is dry when delivered even though sod trucks travel in the cool of the night.

Presently, the farm is growing three varieties of grass; Delta, Merion, and common Blue Grass.

"A square yard of Delta and Blue Grass laid costs one dollar, while the Merion is $1.25," Stevenson said. He added that if an individual wanted to pick-up the cut sod at the farm, the cost would be somewhat less, depending on the size of the order.

Growing Concern
Starting out with only the minor essentials in tools and equipment, the young businessman now has to service two riding tractors with 14 attachments, which include sprayers, a thatcher to remove old cut grass, and a blower, which acts as a vacuum cleaner on cut grass.

The business also employs as high as eight to ten personnel, but normally carries on operations with four.

Stevenson explained that when an area is planted, the old sod must first be stripped, before seed can be applied. Fertilizer is added before seeding, and then a pre-emergence weed killer is also sprayed over the area.

Because the three grasses Stevenson has sown grow best in 50 degree temperature, seeding is usually attended to in the fall.

"Weeds," he pointed out, "don't grow after the first frost, but the grass will."

There is also the process of fertilizing and watering, which continues from seeding through-out the growing season. Stevenson admitted he was not fully "learned" on the fertilizing procedure.

Much to Learn
"I went to school part of the summer, and was not around much when dad took care of that end of the business. This is one area where I still have much to learn."

Both Stevenson, and a friend helping in the business, Tam Ormiston of Jacksonville, are learning. The boys attended a "turf day" at the University of Purdue in Lafayette, Ind. where new varieties of grass have been tested.

"It usually takes a year without irrigation to get a good stand of grass, ready for cutting."

When the farm receives an order for sod, the area must be cleaned with the "thatcher." This machine looks much like a large comb which gets down into the live grass and lifts out dead cut grass.

Then the cutter, which was another essential and expensive piece of equipment, comes into the operation. The gasoline driven device, which looks much like a garden tractor (not the riding variety) cuts a piece of sod 18 inches wide, six feet in length, and about one and one-half inches in depth.

Avoid Unnecessary
The rolls are then taken to the job site, tacked down and given a good watering. "Many people are under the false assumption that just because they sprinkle a lawn every night it will grow. Grass must be given EXPLAINING THATCH—Young Stevenson explains that, dried cut grass which settles underneath the growing grass. He said that the machine, known as the "thatcher," is used to comb out the dead grass before the sod is laid.

STAKING THE SOD—Tam Ormiston of Jacksonville stakes down a piece of sod on a job west of the city. Ormiston said that the sod is usually staked down when it is laid on a slope.

at least an inch of water a week, and that doesn't mean sprinkling, which if not done properly will just make a higher water bill."

Stevenson also noted that if an individual requests, the business will continue to care for the yard after the sodding. "This means fertilizing and spraying."

He said that several of the jobs this year have included tearing up an old yard, and re-sodding. The cost of this procedure is relative to the size of the job Stevenson added.

Stevenson noted that twice a year an inspector from the state department of agriculture checks the sod to insure against disease.

He pointed out that a person, might for instance start a sod business, but unless they are licensed and certified by the state, the operation is illegal.

Limitations of Law
Under state law, no person is supposed to move a plant, tree, or piece of sod from one area to another without first having it inspected and approved.

This is designed to cut down on the spreading of a blight or disease.

Last year, because the business was just getting started, most of the contracts were just through local and area nurseries. Two of the firm's contracts included sod for the state-house lawn in Springfield, and sodding the area around the Morgan county courthouse.

"We're still in the growing stages," Stevenson joked, "but hope in the next few years to be able to provide for more types and varieties of grass if the market improves."

Busy Grocery Store

Bob Milburn, west side jeweler, recently found an old and interesting daybook, or journal, in the rear of his store and brought it to the Journal Courier office. The covers of the large book were badly eroded, as were some of the front and back pages and he wondered who had kept a grocery store around there in 1877.

The directory of that year shows only one grocery store on the west side of the square. A standing advertisement in the Journal stated that C. H. Hayden & Bro. always kept a supply of quality butter at their store, at No. 11 West Side Square.

That's the room that has housed the Edwin Smart shoe store since 1921 and is now being remodeled by Leo O'Brien. Evidently No. 9, now occupied by Milburn - LaRoss jewelry store, and No. 11 were joined at one time and after C. H. Hayden died in 1879 the grocery was run for many years by the Miller Brothers, Matthew and William.

The Bro. of Charles H. Hayden & Bro. was Edwin. The entire Hayden family, six boys and two sisters, migrated from Gloucestershire, England, to Wisconsin, and then — one by one — drifted down to Jacksonville. Edwin also made buggies and wagons and wisely invested his money in farm land, and was a mighty rich man and the oldest Mason in Morgan county when he died in 1903.

A Family Account
The Hayden grocery had the carriage trade; it was patronized by every important family in town and apparently none of them ever paid cash for anything. Having the carriage trade is not an unmixed blessing, for rich folks and those who want to appear rich are traditionally very slow pay. They can break a trusting merchant fast.

Notations in the journal often listed "by wife," "by daughter," "by son," "by servant," "by daughter," "by wife," "by daughter," "by son," "by servant." Even on a normal day the trade would keep a bookkeeper pretty busy and he was swamped on every Saturday. Milburn was interested in the pre-Christmas business the store was doing in 1877 and found that there were 55 separate entries on Friday, Dec. 21 and 112 entries on the following day. On the latter day Hayden & Bro. certainly sold a lot of goods on credit, and some of the amounts were pretty large, up to $30. The highest ledger number in the book was 386, which would add to a pretty sizeable credit business.

Some Happy Kids
There were a lot of boys in the county made happy Christmas morning with a new pocket-knife. About half of Saturday's accounts include a pocketknife, priced at 15¢, 20¢ and 25¢.

In 1877 there were 30 grocery stores in the city, nearly all on or just off of the square. D. W. Howe had a store on Clay avenue, just south of College street (now Beecher avenue) and B. J. Mitchell had one on Brown street, just north of North street (now Douglas avenue). By 1910 there were more than a hundred groceries listed, scattered in all sections of the city.

Hayden & Bro. had an immense butter trade. That's all some of his customers' bought from him. At that time Batavia and Elgin were about the only buttermakers that used sweet cream; nearly everybody else made their butter from sour cream, and it appears that Hayden had the exclusive sweet butter trade in the city. It sold for 20¢ a pound, compared with 15¢ for "country butter," which was taken in for trade at that figure.

Jonathan Baldwin Turner and his wife both bought goods at the store Saturday, Dec. 22. They got two and a half pounds of cheese for 50¢, 2 silk neckties at 75¢ each, 1 silk handkerchief at 75¢, 25 pounds of Graham flour for a dollar, 50 pounds of white flour for two dollars, a flat iron for 15¢, a butcher knife for 25¢ and some candy for 20¢.

Oke Lawn Retreat bought four pounds of coffee for $1.

In the United States Army at Springfield, Mass., a museum is being formed of relics of the war, together with a complete collection of the styles of fire-arms in use. When will the same attention and expense be devoted to the collection of museums illustrative of the arts of peace, as is now given to those of the art of war? Some 6,000 dogs have been received so far this year at the pound in New York, and as it is supposed that this unusually large number is caused by the dog-hunters making raids on the surrounding country, the reward is to be lowered from fifty cents to twenty cents.

The registration in the South has become a settled fact. It is singular to see how quickly the negroes come to be aware of their opportunity to take advantage of it. Meanwhile, large numbers of the whites refuse to have anything to do with a process which recognizes their former slaves as their political equals. C. R. Elliott

Appointed FHA

Committeeman

Charles R. Elliott of Route 1, Concord, has been appointed as a member of the Morgan County Farmers Home Administration committee, the agency's county supervisor has announced. The other members are Arthur R. Mayberry of Waverly and Maurice M. Strang of Murrayville. Elliott succeeds John R. Crawford of Jacksonville whose three year term expired June 30.

The Farmers Home Administration is an agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture that supplies long-term credit to farmers to buy, improve, and finance their farm or to develop recreational facilities. Intermediate or short-term credit is available to farm operators for livestock, machinery, or operating expense. Credit is also available for building or remodeling homes in rural communities, construction of low-rental housing units for senior citizens, or for village sewer and water systems. Farmers Home Administration does not compete with other lenders in the credit service but does supply farm and home management aids and advice.

Each county has a three-member committee to work with the agency's county supervisor to make the best possible local use of the agency's credit program. The committee determines the eligibility of applicants for the various types of Farmers Home Administration loans. It also reviews borrower's progress as they pay off their FHA loans by means of improved farming practices and turn to banks and other lenders for their credit needs.

Norman T. Torrens is the county supervisor for Brown, Cass and Morgan counties. His office is at 15 Permac Road in Jacksonville, with contact offices in Virginia and Mt. Sterling.

Hike Estimates

For Corn Yield

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The record-breaking outlook for Illinois corn Aug. 1 jumped to 1,063 million bushels, or 7 per cent above the July forecast.

The State Crop Reporting Service said Thursday this is 16 per cent above the 1965 record and 41 per cent above the 1961-65 average.

The indicated yield of 96 bushels per acre compares with 80 bushels last year and the five-year average of 85 bushels. Well over 90 per cent of the acreage had tasselled Aug. 8. Prospective soybean production of 175 million bushels is 10 per cent larger than last year's 159 million, which was near average.

The indicated yield at 30 bushels is a half bushel higher than the previous record high of 29.5 bushels in 1965 and three bushels above last year's yield of 27 bushels.

The 74 million bushel wheat crop is a record, up 27 per cent from last year and 20 per cent above the 1961-65 average.

Oats are estimated at 46 million bushels, 3 per cent below the July forecast and 15 per cent less than last year.

31 New Teachers Employed In District 117 For '67-68

School District 117 has employed thirty-one new teachers, two have returned after a year's absence and one has been re-assigned. Of these, 18 are for elementary positions.

Mrs. Margaret Becker, R. R. 5, Jacksonville, a June graduate of Illinois College, will replace Mrs. Mildred Coe, retired, in the first grade at Lafayette.

Miss Charlotte Berkey of Middlebury, Indiana, will teach the second grade at North Jacksonville, vacated when Mrs. Estelle Worrall retired in June. Miss Berkey graduated this spring from Goshen College of Goshen, Indiana.

The fifth grade at Washington, formerly taught by Mrs. Linda Dunham, will be taught by Miss Carole J. Boultinghouse, a 1967 graduate of MacMurray College. The resignation of Norman Rowland at South Jacksonville left a sixth grade vacancy which will be filled by Carroll Eades of Dundee, Illinois. Mr. Eades graduated from the University of Illinois in 1965 and has taught for the past two years at Dundee. He and Mrs. Eades will live in Scottville.

Mrs. Irene D. Evans, Jacksonville, will teach physical education at Lafayette replacing Miss Sherry Reneau. She graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan University at Lincoln, Nebraska.

Miss Charlene Gerber has been employed to teach the third and fourth grades at Woodson formerly taught by Mrs. Lucille Jones who retired. Miss Gerber graduated from Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana in June.

Mrs. Betty Hamm completed the 1966-1967 school year for Mrs. Josephine Joyce, who resigned because of ill health, and will continue in that position. She is a MacMurray graduate and resides at 130 Prospect.

Another Illinois College graduate of the Class of 1967 will teach the second grade at Washington is Miss Janet Harney of Williamsport, Illinois. Miss Harney will have the room formerly taught by Mrs. Mildred Gregory. She taught in the Springfield schools this past year.

The second grade at Jefferson which was taught by Mrs. Eleanor Davison will be in charge of Mrs. Sharon Krohe of Virginia, Illinois, who graduated from Illinois College in June.

Mrs. Joan McCollum of Frankfort, Illinois will be the new kindergarten teacher at Woodson replacing Mrs. Ernestine Krehbiel. Mrs. McCollum taught kindergarten at Frankfort for the past two years. She attended William Woods College.

Mrs. Patricia Moy will return to South Jacksonville to take the second grade formerly taught by Mrs. Sandra Gussner. Mrs. Moy formerly taught the fourth grade in this school.

The first grade at Murrayville will have as its new teacher, Miss Andrea Pille, of Skaneateles, New York. Miss Pille graduated from State University College, Geneseo, New York, in 1965 and taught first grade in Marcellus, New York last year.

The new teacher in the Franklin second grade will be Mrs. Susan Saunders of Oswego, New York whose husband will teach at MacMurray. She is a graduate of State University College, Oswego, New York, in elementary education, and has taught one year at Greenwood, Nebraska.

Miss Gwendolyn Schroeder of Stronghurst, Illinois will have the second grade at Lincoln School taught last year by Miss Mary Ross. Miss Schroeder is a graduate of Barrington College, Barrington, Rhode Island, 1966, and taught last year at East Providence, Rhode Island.

Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, formerly of Rushville, now living in Jacksonville at 535 Reid Street, will teach the first grade at North Jacksonville that Mrs. Mabel Obert taught until her retirement in June. Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Western Illinois University in 1966 and has taught for one year in Abingdon, Illinois.

Mrs. Sally Smith comes to District 117 from Golden, Colorado, and will be teaching a third grade at Franklin School. She is a graduate of the University of Colorado with a major in elementary education. Mr. and Mrs. Smith now reside at 145 W. Vandalia. Mr. Smith is a pharmacist at Osco Drugs.

Mrs. Karen Specht, an Illinois College graduate of 1966, who has taught in Springfield this past year, will return to Jacksonville to teach the third grade at Lincoln, formerly taught by Mrs. Marlys Bundy. Mrs. Specht's husband is with Illinois College.

Mrs. Donna Timian of Pekin, Ill., will teach the second grade at Lafayette. She taught for thirteen years in Pekin after graduating from Illinois State University. Her husband is with Walker Motor Company.

The new sixth grade teacher at Murrayville will be Mrs. Dorothy Ritz, 280 Westgate, Jacksonville. Dr. and Mrs. Ritz recently moved here from Haslett, Mich., in order for Dr. Ritz to take a position at MacMurray College. Since completing her college work at Atlantic Union College, South Lancaster, Mass., Mrs. Ritz has taught at Columbus, Wis., South Lancaster, Mass., Green Bay, Wis., Minneapolis, Minn., and Haslett, Mich., for a total of fifteen years.

The new elementary art teacher replacing Marguerita Schoed-sack, retired, is Mrs. Margot Tooley of Wichita, Kansas. Mrs. Tooley taught for four years in Kansas and California after securing her Bachelor of Science in Art from the Fort Hays Kansas State College and her Masters from the same college in 1958. She has also done some additional work at Wichita State University. Her family consists of her husband and two children.

Only two vacancies have occurred in Turner Junior High School, Harriet Moss retired, and Delbert Mueller has been granted a leave-of-absence. Thomas L. Smith of Abingdon has been employed to teach English and Social Science in place of Mrs. Moss. Mr. Smith is a graduate of Western Illinois University and has taught for the past two years in Abingdon High School. His wife will teach in the elementary schools.

Corydon M. Hubbert of Winchester will replace Mr. Mueller in science and math at Turner. Mr. Hubbert graduated in the class of 1967 at Western Illinois University. He is married.

Jacksonville High School has five new teachers to date, and, of these, two are for new positions.

Miss Darlene Goodson will replace Mrs. Sheryl Sellers in the Business Education Department. Miss Goodson is from Harrisburg, Ill., and graduated in June from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. She was quite active in campus affairs and was a delegate, while a student, to conventions in Washington, D.C., Cincinnati, New Orleans, and Springfield, Ill.

Miss Suzanne Hartman of Jacksonville accepted a position as teacher of French in Jacksonville High School after graduating from Illinois College in June. She resides with her parents at 1040 West College. She is a graduate of Jacksonville High School where she was active in student affairs and that interest was continued at Illinois College. She is also a Girl Scout Counselor.

Dan Moy will return to teach chemistry after securing his master's degree in science and math at Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn. John Willets, who taught chemistry last year, will take the courses taught by Phil Clary, who has been granted a leave-of-absence for the 1967-68 year.

The vacancy caused by the resignation of William Gussner will be filled by Larry A. Sweatman, a graduate of Illinois College, 1963, who has taught mathematics for four years in the Savanna, Ill., High School. Mr. Sweatman is originally from Beardstown, was on the Dean's List at Illinois College in his junior and senior years and was awarded the Williams Memorial Grant. He will secure his master's degree in mathematics at Illinois State University in August.

A new position this year in Power Mechanics and Diversified Occupations has resulted in the employment of Mr. Walter STATE FAIR STARS—Eddy Arnold, Bob Hope and the Tijuana Brass, three of the nation's most popular entertainers, will appear this week in the night grandstand shows at the Illinois State Fair, Springfield. Arnold will appear Tuesday, Hope Wednesday and Thursday and Alpert and his group Friday and Saturday. Supporting acts, also sketched, include the Morgan Ashton Family, to be seen with Arnold and Hope, singer Mary Lou Collins with Hope, and the Young Americans with Alpert.

B. Wilkins of Waukegan, Illinois. Mr. Wilkins is married, has four children, has his bachelor's and master's degrees from Bradley University, and has done considerable additional work at Northern Illinois University, Chicago Teachers' College, and San Jose State College, San Jose, California. He taught Vocational Auto Mechanics at Waukegan Township High School from 1959 to 1967, and had earlier teaching at Palmyra and Greenfield, Illinois.

Two Vacancies
Two vacancies in the high school are unfilled. They are assistant principal and history and economics. The latter position is caused by the resignation of Donald Kennedy.

Six new teachers have been employed in the Special Education Department of School District 117. Four are replacements and two fill new positions.

Mrs. Pauline Crumley, 749 West Douglas, Jacksonville, will teach in the special reading program, taking the position held by Mrs. Carolyn Altstadt. Mrs. Crumley is a graduate of East Tennessee State College, Johnson City, Tennessee, and is attending Purdue University this summer. She taught for most of last year in the Physically Handicapped Classroom for Josephine Milligan who was injured.

Mr. Jack Crump will teach a special education class in Jacksonville High School. He has had several years experience including that of supervisor of the Lake County program for the mentally handicapped, and has his bachelor's and master's degrees from Illinois State University. His wife will teach a special education class at Winchester in the Four Rivers District.

A second class for the Trainable Mentally Handicapped will go into operation on September 1 in the Park Street School with Miss Kathy Dehner as teacher. Miss Dehner graduated from Illinois State University in June 1966 with a major in Special Education and is a candidate for the master's degree from that University. Her home is Lincoln, Illinois.

The district will also have a second speech correctionist for the first time in three years. Miss Linda Sue Ellis of Springfield, a graduate of Southern Illinois University in June, will fill the position.

Mr. Don Bryan will be the chief psychologist for the Four Rivers District, moving from District 117. He will be assisted by Robert C. Everett, who will be serving his internship. Mr. Everett formerly lived in Jacksonville when he was a teacher and counselor at New Berlin. He has a bachelor's degree from Southern Illinois University, and has done graduate work at Loyola University, Chicago, the University of Alabama and at the University of Missouri. Since leaving New Berlin in 1965, he has been a counselor in the Parkway School District near St. Louis. Mr. Everett is married and has one child.

Miss Donna Holmes will teach a special education class at Turner. She graduated from Illinois College in 1967 and is working on an advanced degree in special education. Her home is Duplo, Illinois.

The Assistant Director for the Four Rivers District will be Mr. Robert W. Leach from Winfield, Illinois. He taught the physically handicapped and acted as coordinator of Special Education for the Elmhurst Public Schools from 1957 to 1967. He has his bachelor's from Illinois State University and his master's degree from the University of Illinois. He is married and has three children. Mr. Leach has served as President of the Elmhurst Education Association, and President of the DuPage County Chapter of the Council for Exceptional Children.

The second special education teacher at Turner will be Mr.

Morgan NFO Group To Attend Iowa Meet

Morgan County NFO held a dinner meeting Tuesday evening at Hamilton's Restaurant in Jacksonville. Edgar Robinson, Jr. president conducted the business meeting. The following grain board was elected: Virgil Beauchamp, Robert Foster, Albert Hermes, Edgar Robinson, Jr., Leonard Kramp, Albert Hermes, Bernard Fromme, LeRoy Hamman, Ronald Becker.

Morgan county is making preparations for a large group of NFO members to attend the NFO "Meeting For Action" at Des Moines, Iowa, on August 16. The meeting is being called because the NFO feels that low farm prices are seriously jeopardizing the future of the family type farm and the future food supply of the nation and, therefore, it is time to see what farmers want to do about taking action to stop low farm prices. A statement from the national office of the NFO to county leaders stressed that practically

Japanese Bean Buyers To Visit Illinois

HUDSON, Iowa — The importance of the Japanese market to the U.S. soybean producer is underscored by the fact that the president of the Japan Oilseed Processors Association is coming to the American Soybean association convention in Peoria, Ill., Aug. 14-16 to report on that market.

Bunzo Watanabe will be one of a seven-man team from Japan who will attend the convention. They will also see something of the U.S. soybean industry while in this country.

Japan has been the No. 1 customer for U.S. soybeans for a number of years, and is expected

4-H Exhibitors At State Fair

Quite a few Morgan county 4-H members are in Springfield where they are showing in the junior fair, and maybe in the open show.

Among the exhibitors are: Steers—John Potter, Ed Becker and Kenneth Rahe. Swine—Bob Armstrong, Todd Burrus, Jim Burrus, Bob DeOrnellas, Marc Ginder.

Mexican Dwarf Wheat Lends Hope To India

To an American farmer who harvests his rolling acres of wheat with a big self-propelled combine it seems incredible that across the world Indian and Pakistani farmers are still harvesting their crops in the Biblical way as related in the Book of Ruth," says Grant Cannon, Editor of Farm Quarterly.

Say All Crops To Set Records

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department estimated this week that this year's production of all crops will set a new record high—four per cent above last year and two per cent above the previous record set in 1965.

The indicated production will be featured by record large crops of wheat, corn and beans. Today's report said, however, that the prospective harvest of food grains declined somewhat during July because of adverse weather conditions in the Northern Great Plains affecting spring wheat.

Nevertheless, for most of the country prospects for many late-maturing crops improved during the month under the influence of adequate soil moisture supplies.

The corn crop was forecast at 4.7 billion bushels, up three per cent from a July forecast and 13 per cent more than last year. Wheat production was put at 1.5 billion bushels, down five per cent from the department's July forecast but 15 per cent more than last year.

The soybean crop was placed at a record 999 million bushels, seven per cent more than last year's record and 39 per cent above average.

Illinois Farm OUTLOOK

STOCKS OF GRAINS MAY BUILD UP AGAIN

Four times each year, the United States Department of Agriculture releases estimates of total stocks of grains on hand. These figures are helpful to producers in planning the sale of their crops, and to farmers and others who buy grains for feed and other uses. The latest of the quarterly reports was for July 1.

Soybeans. Stock of soybeans on hand July 1 totaled 199 million bushels, according to USDA calculations. This amount was 49 percent more than was on hand a year earlier.

The quantity of soybeans stored on farms was estimated at 85 million bushels, compared with only 19 million bushels a year before. Beans stored in elevators and mills were listed at 114 million bushels, about the same as last year.

As of July 1, farmers had placed 150 million bushels of soybeans under price support loans. They had repaid loans on half of these beans, leaving 75 million bushels still under loan. The amount not under loan was about 124 million bushels.

It now appears that about 100 million bushels of old beans will be left on hand September 1, the beginning of the next soybean marketing year. The new crop is developing well, despite some bad spots. The crop may total 1,000 million bushels, compared with 931 million last fall.

The prospective total supply could be near 1,100 million bushels, which might be enough to leave nearly 200 million bushels for carryover at the end of the next marketing year. With such a supply in prospect, soybean prices may be depressed below the support level for a time during and following the harvest. If farmers lock up enough beans under price support, the price will rise enough to bring some of them out on the market.

Corn. Stocks of corn on hand July 1 were estimated at 1,735 million bushels down just 3 percent from the same date a year earlier. Farm stocks were listed at 1,330 million bushels, practically the same as last year. But supplies in elevators and mills were 425 million, down 7 percent.

Farmers had 310 million bushels of corn under price support loans on July 1. A year earlier, they had 423 million bushels under loans. Unsold stocks of corn held by the CCC on July 14 were estimated at 140 million bushels. A year earlier, the uncommitted balance in CCC hands was 82 million bushels.

It now appears that the carryover of old corn on October 1 will be close to the 840 million bushels carried over last fall. While the new crop is a few days late in most areas, many farmers will have a record crop. Total production may exceed the 4.5 billion bushels forecast on the basis of conditions on July 1.

Present conditions point to a total corn supply of more than 5.3 billion bushels for the next marketing year. Compare that with the slightly more than 4.9 billion bushels available at the beginning of this marketing year.

Prospective use and exports in the year ahead are less than the expected 1967 production. Thus, the carryover stocks are likely to increase in the fall of 1968. Prices may sag below the price-support level during or after harvest. The extent to which prices recover after harvest will depend largely on how much corn farmers put under loan, and on how fast they sell the remainder that is to be put on the market.

Outlines 1968 Wheat Program Participation

While there will be no wheat diversion in 1968 the wheat program is still a compact between government and farmers with each participating farmer doing certain things to qualify for wheat marketing certificates and price-support loans, Lester E. Martin, Chairman Morgan County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, pointed out last week.

He explained that the producers' side of the bargain in the 1968 wheat program includes doing these things:

1. Sign up as a program participant at the appropriate time. In 1967, program sign-ups for wheat, upland cotton, and feed grains were held in the ASCS county office in February-March.
2. Stay within the participating farm's wheat allotment (unless the excess wheat option or the substitution provisions are used.) Under the excess wheat option, a grower may plant up to 50 percent in excess of his allotment acreage and still be eligible for marketing certificates and loans if the excess production is stored and other conditions of the program are met. Under the substitution provisions,

A Mighty Big Badger

A hundred years ago there wasn't a deer in Morgan county, or a beaver, or a badger.

Now there's quite a few deer. And if you listen to men farming lowlands there are away too many beavers. And the badgers are coming back.

Dave McNeely is shown with a husky 24 pound badger he ran over south of Lynnville. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McNeely, who lives on the gravel road south of Lynnville.

The American badger, according to one source, is considerably larger than his European cousin, "with some adults weighing more than 20 pounds."

About seven years ago coon hunters living near Clinton, De Witt county, thought there must truly be a "boss" coon in their area, judging from the way their dogs were getting clawed up. Later they found it was a badger, when he was trapped in a set intended to catch a fox.

No wild animal takes on a badger, not even a grizzly bear. The bear knows he could kill him with one swipe of his paw, but if he missed, well, he has just invited trouble for a badger is really equipped with a massive set of claws and isn't afraid of anything.

Those claws enable him to dig out his favorite food — ground squirrels. He can dig a hole eight inches in diameter faster than his soon-to-be dinner can dig an inch and a half hole.

About five winters ago Carl Cole and George Seals were hunting coons northeast of town and their dogs met up with a badger who would have whipped them all if he hadn't got tangled up in a woven wire fence. They killed it and brought it to town, and most people had no idea what it was.

This king-sized badger killed by McNeely was just unlucky. How was he to know that in Morgan county some boys don't come home from a date until 4 o'clock in the morning?

Small Oats Crop—But A Record Yield

Illinois oat growers set a record high for the state by producing an average of 61 bushels per acre, according to a preliminary report from the Illinois Crop Reporting Service (ICRS).

University of Illinois extension agronomist W. O. Scott says that all Illinois crops look good this year.

The trend toward a more intensive cropping system that includes mainly corn and soybeans has sharply cut the number of Illinois acres planted in oats.

The availability of commercial nitrogen at reasonable prices has allowed farmers to stop growing legumes as a source of nitrogen. And 10 years ago many of the 3 million acres of oats grown in Illinois each year were planted as a nurse crop for legume seedlings. This year Illinois farmers grew only 780,000 acres of oats.

The state's recently harvested wheat crop averaged 41 bushels per acre—the same as last year's crop. Illinois farmers grew 1.85 million acres of wheat this year. Because of a 30 percent increase in the government's allotment, this figure is 30 percent more than last year's acreage.

Scott says the ICRS estimates growers taking part in both the wheat and feed grain programs may substitute one for the other.

3. Meet the conserving base established for the farm. (The 1968 conserving bases will be increased by the same amount they were decreased when the last 15 percent increase in acreage allotments was made for 1967.)

BRIMFUL and running over

By Jim Brim

When the Lord made the world He made something for everyone. This earth has a great variety of climate—and I hope there is a place suitable for all.

A short time back I had the privilege to take a fast trip. This included a short stay in California in what they call the High Desert area.

We left St. Louis with temperature of 68 degrees, humidity of 40%, arrived at 29 Palms, Calif., where the temperature was 115 and the humidity 7%.

The plants and animals that live there are uniquely adapted to the climate. The animals seem not to need water, obtaining the moisture that they need from vegetation. The sand is quite coarse and looks unproductive, but all it needs is water and it is capable of supporting much growth.

In places the moisture is close to the surface and the desert willow trees bloom forth. Indians lived here years ago, a few people tried raising cattle but that has been almost completely given up because there simply is not any feed worth talking about.

While there they had a two inch rain. Drops fell two inches apart. Not far away was Palm Springs, a garden spot, and India where many, many dates are produced. It's quite interesting to learn of the crops we can produce in this great land of ours. It truly offers something for any way of life.

How you should . . . watch the corn. . . take a trip. . . kill insects. . . eat blackberry pie. . . drink lemonade. POISE — The ability to be at ease—conspicuously.

Farm Ponds Sometimes Harbor Diseases That Can Kill Livestock

Unless a sudden disease outbreak hits hogs, feeder calves or a milking herd, farmers seldom consider the quality of their livestock's drinking water.

If the water looks clean, farmers assume it is safe to use. But a farm pond or stagnant stream can harbor many disease-causing organisms, says Dr. George Meyerholz, University of Illinois extension veterinarian. Water is a likely source of coliform bacteria, leptospirosis, Q-fever and salmonella.

Leptospirosis organisms, for example, live in the kidney of an animal and are shed in the urine. They can also exist for a long time in ponds and lagoons. In its acute form, "lepto" may cause abortion and infertility or death in livestock.

Coliform bacteria, normally present in the intestinal tracts of humans, animals and birds, can cause scours in livestock. And large numbers of coliform bacteria also exist in surface water, in ground water less than 10 feet below the surface and in sewage. Livestock discharge often pollutes ponds, streams and even barnlot water tanks with coliform.

Q-fever, a disease difficult to diagnose because it produces few physical signs, also has its source in the discharge of infected cows. It is one of the toughest organisms to kill because it resists physical and chemical agents as well as pasteurization. Animals can pick up the organism by licking an infected surface or by breathing infected dust.

Though usually associated with dairy cattle, Q-fever infects beef cattle, sheep, goats, horses and birds. It also causes respiratory infections with flu-like symptoms in humans, Meyerholz says.

Salmonella typhimurium, another bacterium carried in water contaminated by animal feces, affects both livestock and humans. It results in scouring and dysentery in livestock. In humans the symptoms include nausea, headache, vomiting, abdominal pain, diarrhea and general weakness.

Meyerholz recommends the following steps to prevent the entrance of these organisms.

—Fence livestock away from stagnant water to avoid contaminating them with stock waste. In some cases it may be necessary to fence off the entire watershed.

—Take the water from the surface and not the bottom of the pond, if feces-polluted water must be used for livestock.

—Install a filtration or purification system for your farm pond.

Elimination of any potential source of disease can save you money, Meyerholz says. He adds that any or all of the above steps will help provide clean water or at least prevent water contamination by livestock.

Farm Manager

Ken L. Harp

Ken L. Harp has been appointed assistant farm manager at Elliott State Bank, according to an announcement by F. Osborne Elliott, chairman of the board. Mr. Harp will be assisting Ed Garlich in Elliott's Farm Management Department.

He is a graduate of the University of Illinois where he majored in agriculture and has a Bachelor of Education degree.

He taught Vocational Agriculture at the Augusta High School, 1963-64. He was assistant farm manager 1964-67 at the Union National Bank, Macomb, Ill. He was born in Louisiana, Mo., attended grade school in Pittsfield, and graduated from High School in Macomb.

He is married and has one daughter. They reside at #3 Sunset Drive.

Finals Set Today In Tennis Action

One champion was crowned and the other five divisions were narrowed to the championship stage in action Saturday in the third annual JOURNAL COURIER Jacksonville City Championship Tennis Tournament.

Title matches in five of the six divisions are scheduled for Sunday afternoon in the final of the two-week tournament that involved over 40 local net- ters.

The biggest news Saturday was the absence of Manny Velasco, who walked off with three top trophies in last year's meet. Velasco, the Jacksonville High school tennis coach, was forced to default his two matches Saturday because of a recurring illness. Velasco is also the tournament director.

Chip Sutphen, a JHS graduate this year, stands to be the big winner in this year's affair. Sutphen reached the finals in three divisions Saturday, while Bill Kaufmann and Stuart Hemphill gained a finals berth in two divisions.

Sutphen won over Velasco on default in the Mens Singles, and will take on Kaufmann, a 4-6, 6-1, 6-4 winner over Dick Herrin Saturday in the finals at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Sutphen and Barb Hamm downed Gonzalo Ayoroa and Melissa Green 6-1, 6-3 in the Mixed Doubles, and will face Hemphill - Sheryl Freeman in the final match at 1 p.m. today.

Sutphen will face Dick Herrin, a 2-6, 7-6, 6-2 winner over Scott Hemphill gained finals berths in Mens Singles crown at noon Sunday.

In Womens Singles Saturday Ann Lukeman downed Peggy Davidmeyer, 6-3, 6-4, and Joan Bradish eliminated Nancy Hamm, 6-3, 6-3. The two winners are slated to play today at 2 p.m.

In the Mens Doubles the championship match will pit Bob Hemphill - Stuart Hemphill against Kaufmann - Bob Bradney at 4 p.m. Kaufmann and Bradney eliminated Sutphen - Herrin 6-3, 6-4 Saturday; while the father-son Hemphill duo won on default over Velasco and Dick Casler.

In the one division decided Saturday Scott Hemphill whipped John Engelbrecht, 6-2, 6-1. The champions and runners-up of each division are asked to be at the courts at 5 p.m. this afternoon for the presentation of trophies.

Saturday's Results

MENS SINGLES: Chip Sutphen d. Manny Velasco, default; Bill Kaufmann d. Dick Herrin, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

MENS DOUBLES: Bob Hemphill-Stuart Hemphill d. Manny Velasco-Dick Casler, 2-6, 6-4, default; Bill Kaufmann - Bob Bradney d. Chip Sutphen - Dick Herrin, 6-3, 6-4.

Davis, Koonce Lift New York Past Pirates 6-1

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Davis hit two home runs and Cal Koonce in his first start for New York, limited Pittsburgh to six hits Saturday as the Mets beat the Pirates 6-1. It was the fourth triumph for the Mets in their last five games.

Davis led off the fourth with a homer that put the Mets ahead 2-1 and came back with a two-run shot in the fifth inning when New York scored three unearned runs.

With two out and Jerry Grote on second, Bill Mazeroski let a grounder by Bob Johnson get through him and Grote scored. Davis then hit his 16th homer of the season into the left field bullpen.

Koonce, acquired early this week from the Chicago Cubs, allowed the only Pirates' run in the first inning when Willie Stargell doubled in Roberto Clemente, who had singled.

Cleon Jones singled in a run for the Mets in the second inning and Ron Swoboda drove in one with a single in the seventh.

Trio Shares Akron Lead

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — South African Allan Henning, Kermit Zarley and Jack McGowan—a threesome with only one tournament victory among them—tied for the lead Saturday in a helter-skelter third round of the $100,000 American Golf Classic.

All three were two strokes under par with one round to go and a shaky one stroke ahead of the more illustrious pair of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer.

Henning, a 23-year-old with a mod haircut who is making the tour for the first time, and Zarley, 25, have never won on the pro tour. McGowan, 36, a pro for 12 years, claims victory only in the 1964 Mountain View Open.

All three took advantage of the collapse of Rex Baxter Jr., who led the tournament after 36 holes and went from six under par to one over in a disastrous round of 42-35—77 and a 211 total, three strokes behind the leaders.

Henning had a one under par 35-34—69 for 208, Zarley a 34-34—68 and McGowan 34-38—72. Nicklaus came in with a 34-36—70 and Palmer a 36-36—72 for their 209 totals.

At even par was Doug Sanders with a 35-34—69 and 210 while Gay Brewer, Cal Nagle, Bill Collins and Tom Weiskopf were grouped at 211 with Baxter.

Brewer had a 31-36—67 in a fine comeback which matched Nagle's 35-32—67. Collins had a 34-36—69 and Weiskopf a 33-36—69.

Nichols had 37-36—73 and was bunched at 212 with Lebron Harris, Dan Sikes Jr. and amateur Ron Cerrudo. Cerrudo had a 36-33—69 and along with Marty Fleckman, who had a 35-34—69 for a 217 total, became the first amateurs to break par of 35-35—70 over the 7,180 yards of the Firestone Country Club course.

Angels Notch 1-0 Win Friday

ANAHEIM (AP) — Jim McGlothlin pitched a three-hitter and Jimmie Hall scored on a fourth inning wild pitch Friday night as the California Angels defeated Boston 1-0.

The wild pitch followed singles by Hall and Don Mincher, and enabled McGlothlin, 14, to win a pitching duel from right-hander Lee Stange, 7-8. Stange allowed only four hits in the seven innings he pitched.

The series opening victory lifted the fifth-place Angels within three games of front running Chicago in the scrambled American League race. The loss dropped Boston from second place to third, two games behind the White Sox.

A TIGHT DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Seven thoroughbreds reached the wire within four lengths of each other in the 1966 Kentucky Derby, making it the closest finish since margins first were recorded in 1903.

Kauai King won by a half length, with Advocate gaining second by a nose over Blue Skiver.

Loss Of Johnson Crimps Cardinals

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) — Coach Charley Winner of the St. Louis Cardinals spent the summer looking for a No. 2 quarterback and now finds himself in a position of having to land both a No. 1 and No. 2 signal-caller for the 1967 season.

Veteran quarterback Charley Johnson has been ordered to active duty with the U.S. Army for two years, with directions to report Aug. 22.

The Cards had a 6-1 record when Johnson was hurt in a 1966 game with the New York Giants Nov. 6. They finished 8-5-1 for fourth place after losing four of their last five games.

Jim Hart, a second year man from Southern Illinois who played briefly in one game as a rookie, had been slated for the No. 2 spot. Winner also has been looking at Vidal Carlin of North Texas State and Tim Van Gilder of Iowa State.

Except for the quarterback situation, Winner believes the Cardinals are improved in most other categories.

Northrup Drives In Five Runs For Detroit, 5-4

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Northrup drove in three runs with a triple and his fifth home run and Denny McLain won his 15th game as Detroit defeated Baltimore 5-4 Saturday.

Northrup set off a three-run Detroit rally in the second when he tripled home Norm Cash, who had walked. Bill Freehan walked and Northrup scored when Oriole starter Gene Brabender, 1-3, balked. Don Went drove in the other run with a single.

Northrup's homer came off relief pitcher Eddie Watt in the third following a single by Cash.

McLain, 15-12, gave up solo 16th, in the second; Lui Aparicio, his third, in the third and Dave Johnson, his seventh, in the ninth. McLain has given up 27 homers this year.

The Birds added another run in the fifth on a single by Watt, Aparicio's double and an infield grounder by Russ Snyder. Baltimore has lost five of its last six games.

Baltimore 010 010 001—4 8 0
Detroit 032 000 00x—5 8 1
Brabender, Watt (2), Drabowsky (7) and Haney; McLain, Hiller (9), and Freehan. W—McLain, 15-12. L—Brabender, 1-3.

Home runs — Baltimore, Blefary 16, Aparicio 3, Johnson 7. Detroit, Northrup 5.

Cisne Leads Pack In City Tourney

Jim Cisne ignored extremely rough greens and turned in a one-under-par 65 to take a sizeable five-stroke individual lead in the opening round of the Jacksonville City Championship Golf Tournament, Saturday at Nichols Park.

Scores from starting 54-man field zoomed well over par as the greens at Nichols Park, sun-hardened and noticeably bare of grass, presented putting problems for all but Cisne.

Cisne, the recent Nichols Park Open champion, was the only golfer to even approach par on the 33-33—66 layout, with a consistent 32-33—65.

The field of 54 was sliced to 31 golfers Saturday, with the low 15 from the Country Club and Nichols Park teams. The tourney continues this afternoon with 18 holes at the Country Club course. The field will then be cut to the low ten and ties from each team for the final 36 holes next weekend.

After Cisne, the Club squad was led by a pair of 72's by Bud Walker, who turned in an eagle three on number six, and Fred Grant.

Mike Anderson and Frank Harris topped the Park outfit with 70's, while Jim Blesse and Jim O'Brien followed with 73's.

Cepeda Powers 3-2 Cards' Win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Orlando Cepeda singled home Curt Flood with the winning run in the sixth inning and Jack Lamabe pitched 6 2-3 innings of scoreless relief as St. Louis edged San Francisco 3-2 Saturday Night.

Flood's triple to right centerfield had driven home Roger Maris with the tying run before Cepeda's sharp single.

Lamabe replaced starter

Steve Carlton in the third inning and blanked the Giants on three hits. He captured his first victory of the year and now is 1-2 with the Cardinals and 1-6 on the season.

Jesus Alou opened the game with a single. He moved to second when the Cards' rightfielder, Alex Johnson, tried unsuccessfully to pick him off first base.

Alou scored from second on an infield hit by Jim Hart and a throwing error by Carlton.

Senators Tally Two In 10th To Nip K.C. 6-5

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Dick Nen's two-out 10th-inning double drove in Fred Valentine, who had tripled, and Washington went on to beat Kansas City 6-5 Saturday night.

Valentine, who hit a three-run homer in the fifth ining, got his triple with two out off Jack Aker and Nen delivered the go-ahead run with his hit off Paul Lindblad. Paul Casanova followed with a single that drove in Nen.

Athletics' reliever Lindblad doubled in a run in the 10th after Raymond Webster singled and was forced by Jim Gosger. Trailing 4-2 in the bottom of the ninth, the Athletics tied the score by getting four hits off three Washington pitchers. Ken Suarez' single drove in Gosger with one run and Dick Green's pinch single drove in the tying run.

Pros Feel USGA Will Invite Ben Hogan To Their '68 Open

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeature Sports Editor
Step right up folks, some golf pros and pro golfers are taking small wagers that the United States Golf Association will invite Ben Hogan to their tournament at Rochester's Oak Hill course in upstate New York next June.

The USGA gave Bantam Ben, who turned 55 on August 13, a one-year pass to their 1966 show in San Francisco. They didn't have to invite him to the 1967 party at Springfield, N.J., because he won his spot, by doing well in 1966.

Hogan, one of the wonders of sport, is the only active four-time Open winners and on the basis of that the USGA made him totally exempt from the 1966 sectional qualifying rounds.

You might say the USGA bowed to Hogan. He absolutely refused to play 36 qualifying holes to prove he belonged in the 72-hole Open.

During World War II — 1942-45 — the U.S. Open was suspended. But in 1942 when they had the Hale America tournament in Chicago, many golfers and golf officials treated it as another U.S. Open. Hogan won that tournament with a 271.

Conversely, the war and a near fatal auto accident in 1949 most assuredly deprived Ben Hogan of the title of Mr. Golf. But for those two occurrences, Hogan today might have had Open records that few could ever approach.

He was in his prime when war broke out, having led the PGA money winners in 1940 and '41. And he led the money winners in 1948 and had a top Vardon average of 69.30 strokes per 18 holes when the bus-car crash in Texas almost took his life.

Ben Hogan has been a victim of fate and the USGA knows it. Nobody is going to complain if they give him full exemption for 1968, and the USGA also knows that because the USGA got many complimentary letters when they gave Bantam Ben a pass to play in their 1966 show.

The USGA often is pressured on all sides. When it comes to suggestions the USGA officials often get together much in the manner of a bank's board of directors.

Courses on which Opens are held, golf writers and TV people, who have advertisers to please, make suggestions and the US Open, as it is played today, has to be geared to please the majority.

Hogan won't think of next year's Open until next May when he gets his application. Chances are he will enter, but not if he has to play 36 holes to show he belongs.

"The minute the USGA invites Ben," says Freeport, Grand Bahamas pros Harry Obitz and Dick Farley, "the USGA will be flooded with thousands of ticket requests from seniors who want to see Ben in the Open at 55. Not many men that age get to play in the Open."

Hogan must finish among the leading 10 players in one more open to tie Walter Hagen's record of finishing 16 times in the top 10.

Hogan finished 12th last year and finished tied for 34th this year. He knows he can do better than that. And so does the USGA and a good part of the golf world. He'll be invited all right. The pros are betting on it.

Pappas Limits LA To Six Hits For 4-0 Victory

CINCINNATI (AP) — Milt Pappas stopped Los Angeles on six hits with his second straight shutout and Cincinnati downed the Dodgers 4-0 Saturday night.

Pappas, who pitched a two-hit shutout over Houston Tuesday, registered his 12th victory as he walked only one. He has lost seven.

Tony Perez delivered a two-run single in the third after the Reds loaded the bases with two out. The Reds had taken a 1-0 lead in the second as Tommy Helms tripled with one out and Lee Mah singled for one run.

Pete Rose scored in the ninth when Lon Johnson made a bad throw after fielding May's double.

Pappas was in and out of trouble, but never allowed a runner past second base.

Red-Hot Phillies Blast Cubs, 9-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Home runs by Rich Allen and Tony Gonzalez powered the Philadelphia Phillies to their 10th victory in 11 games as they defeated the Chicago Cubs 9-0 Saturday behind the five-hit pitching of Dick Ellsworth.

Allen's 19th homer gave the Phillies a 3-0 lead in the first inning. Johnny Briggs and Gonzalez singled ahead of Allen's blast onto the left field catwalk.

Before Cub starter Joe Nickerson, 6-6, exited in the fifth, Gonzalez slugged his sixth homer behind Briggs' second single.

The victory enabled Ellsworth to balance his record at 4-4 and was his first victory over his former teammates.

Curt Flood, on a hitting tear for the St. Louis Cardinals, doesn't concede that hitting in the same batting order with guys like Orlando Cepeda and Roger Maris makes it easier for him. "All it does is make sure you see a lot more strikes because they don't want to walk you with Cepeda coming up to the plate. But it's not easy, I don't care who hits behind you."

Buddy Parker, now selling Texas real estate, ran across Pat Summerall, now a successful broadcaster, and reminded him of their last confrontation. Pat, a rookie with the Detroit Lions, walked into the office of Buddy, their coach, and asked to be traded. "There were tears rolling down your face, too," chided Buddy. "So I got rid of you to the Chicago Cardinals — for $500." And from there Pat went on to placekicking renown with the New York Giants before starting his new career.

The Price Of Fame Higher Than Bonus

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — The knot of reporters closed in on Joe Namath, pinning him against the metal locker.

Joe took a deep breath, hoping to get some clear air.

There wasn't any. It was a warm, summer evening and the tiny high school dressing room wasn't built to accommodate a professional football team. The steam from the shower room made it even warmer.

Joe Namath answered the easier questions politely. Then when the reporters hit him with the pointed ones, about an evening on the town the night before, Joe gazed across the room, smiled wanly and pointed to a little man in horn-rimmed glasses. "There's the man to ask, Attorney Michael Bile Jr.," Namath said. "Ask him."

"No comment," said Joe Namath's attorney.

Did Joe Namath slug the sports editor of Time Magazine?

"No," says Joe Namath. Why did Joe Namath leave training camp?

"Personal problems," says Weeb Ewbank.

Would Joe Namath be fined? "It's automatic if you miss bed check," says Weeb Ewbank.

All over the locker room, exhausted men sat on wooden benches, staring at the scene, saying little, just watching.

"We won the game, didn't we?" one of them said. "Why doesn't someone ask about the damn game?"

The man who had the answer was in another corner of the dressing room.

David A. Werblin owns the New York Jets. He picked the team up when it was bankrupt and he made it a financial success.

David A. Werblin is a man who operates on a theory of green power.

He has had nothing but success because he mastered the techniques of salesmanship and showmanship many years ago.

Joe Namath has been Werblin's vehicle for financial success in professional football.

Sonny made him an instant superstar by giving him a $400,000 contract. Then, like a platinum blonde from Hollywood, Joe was marketed, merchandised, advertised and lionized.

Cleveland Trims Yankees By 6-2

CLEVELAND (AP) — Vern Fuller drove in three runs and Joe Azcue two as the Cleveland Indians defeated the New York Yankees 6-2 Saturday night.

Fuller's single followed Azcue's two-run triple in the Indians' four-run rally in the first inning and his double in the third produced two more runs.

The Yankees took a 1-0 lead in the first when Horace Clarke led off with an infield single, went to third on Bill Robinson's single and scored on an infield out.

Chuck Hinton led off the Indians' half of the first with a double, went to third when Leon Wagner grounded out and scored on Tony Horton's single.

Don Demeter singled and both runners scored on Azcue's triple.

John O'Donoghue, 6-5, was the winner, going the distance with a seven-hitter.

Werblin compares him to Babe Ruth and Mickey Mantle. And that is why nobody bothered to ask about the 55-13 win over the Boston Patriots.

What is happening to Joe Namath is an old story. He is simply paying for his public image by losing his privacy.

Some can cope with it. Others can't.

Joe Namath is only 24. He has a huge bank account — if the parasites haven't started bleeding it from him already.

He is single. He enjoys a good time. And he is not about to apologize for it.

"I don't care who people think," he says. "I believe in letting a guy live the way he wants. I live and let live."

It is a fine philosophy for a private person.

For a public person?

It doesn't really matter. It's box-office, and ticket sellers don't distinguish between good and bad publicity.

There aren't many empty seats at Shea Stadium.

Most coaches today feel competition is too tough for a club to make it through one season unscathed much less to link a chain of consecutive triumphs over several campaigns. Look how the Poll Bowl 10-10 draw by Notre Dame and Michigan State last November killed promising bids for both sides.

But fine talent, dedication and maestro Bear Bryant put Alabama in good position to defy the rule. The way the Tide has been playing in recent years it had to be ruled a serious threat to join the circle of all-time streak authors.

Bama, which hasn't been beaten since Georgia turned the trick in the 1965 opener, 19-17, has won 'em all since the 7-7 tie with Tennessee including an impressive pair of post-season decisions over Nebraska.

Sooners Unmatched
From a five-point conquest of Texas until a fourth-down, fourth quarter gamble by Notre Dame paid off with a 7-0 victory, Oklahoma fashioned a string of victories in major college gridiron history.

Washington was unbeaten in 61 games under Gil Dobie from 1908 to 1916. However, the Huskies actually won 39 in the all-time ratings. Only once in that victory string did a rival—Oregon—manage to score in double figures.

Yale reached the 37 mark twice to be foiled both times by Princeton. In the first span, 1887-89, the Elis outscored the combined opposition 1,870 points to 33.

Pennsylvania fashioned streaks of 34 and 30 before the turn of the century, Pittsburgh won 33 straight in the World War I era while Oklahoma previewed its record performance with a 31-game string (1948-51). The latter started after a 20-17 loss to Santa Clara and was ended by Kentucky and Babe Parilli, 13-7, in the Sugar Bowl.

Michigan's famed point-a-minute clubs, directed by Fielding (Hurry Up) Yost at the turn of the century, won 29 straight in the 1901-03 span ended by a 6-6 deadlock with Minnesota. Following the game the Wolverines won another 26 in a row.

JIM RYUN

Ryun Takes Second Win Over Keino

LONDON (AP) — America's Jim Ryun scored his second victory in five weeks over Kipchoge Keino of Kenya Saturday but failed to threaten his world record by clocking 3:56 for one mile.

A crowd of 30,000 had come out to White City Stadium hoping to see the 20-year-old Kansas collegian and the 27-year-old Kenyan policeman crack the 3:50 barrier, but a slow early pace made it impossible.

"I felt a bit heavy and did not have the snap that I've had in my last few races," said Ryun, who has a pending world record of 3:51.1. "I was not sure at any stage that I would win."

Keino, clocked in 3:57.4, said he thought he had the race won when he went into the back straightaway on the last lap but added: "Ryun burst away from me on the last stage of the race."

The Invitation Mile was a feature of a dual track and field meet between the United States and Britain, won by the Americans 139 points to 84.

The British won only two of the 20 scoring events. Fred Allop took the triple jump with a leap of 51 feet, 11½ inches. Ian McCafferty won the 5,000 meters run in 13:45.8. Americans finished 1-2 in the pole vault, high jump, shot, discus, 100 meter dash and 100 meter hurdles.

Bob Seagren of Pomona, Calif., soared over the 17-foot mark in the pole, going 17 feet, 3½ inches. Ed Carruthers of Oklahoma City led seven feet in the high jump, beating out John Thomas, who was 6-8½. World record holder Randy Matson of Kilgore, Tex., put the shot 66-11.

Keino, whose best time is 2:53.4, and a teammate, David Mungai, ran in the mile by special invitation. Alan Simson of Britain finished third in 4:00.4 with John Whetton of Britain fourth in 4:01.2 and Mungai fifth in 4:01.9.

Lemaster Hurls Nerves To Sweep Over Houston

ATLANTA (AP) — Denny Lemaster hurled a strong five-hitter and drove in the game's first run as Atlanta blanked Houston 7-0, completing a sweep of a day night doubleheader Saturday.

Ken Johnson won his 12th game with Rico Carty and Clete Boyer socking homers for a 7-3 Atlanta victory in the afternoon game.

The double loss stretched Houston's losing streak to nine games. The Braves moved into second place, running their winning streak to four games.

The second game victory snapped a two-month long winless streak for Lemaster. The veteran left-hander struck out 10 and delivered his key hit in the seventh inning.

Carty opened the seventh with a single against loser Mike Cuellar. Dennis Menke bunted him along but Cuellar retired Woody Woodward. Then Lemaster singled to center, scoring Carty.

The Braves got four runs in the first game on homers by Carty and Boyer. Carty's homer with two on came in the third inning and broke a 2-2 deadlock.

Twins Move Half Game From Top 6-2

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Bob Allison belted a three-run homer to cap a four-run Minnesota uprising in the seventh inning Saturday which carried the Twins to a 6-2 victory over American League leading Chicago.

The victory pulled the surging Twins who have won four of five games, within a half game of the White Sox.

Allison, on a hitting rampage with nine hits in 15 times at bat, slammed a pitch from Hoyt Wilhelm 390 feet to left-center as the Twins paraded four unearned runs across the plate in the inning.

Chicago got runs off winner Jim Kaat, 9-11, in the first and fourth and touched Kaat for nine hits, but could do no more damage. Rocky Colavito singled home a run in the first and Ron Hansen drove in the run in the fourth with a single.

The largest crowd ever to watch a regular-season game in Metropolitan Stadium cheered the Twins' victory. The paid total was 39,229 with 8,414 youngsters swelling the house to 47,643.

Schollander Breaks Own World Mark

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Schollander, 1964 Olympic star, blasted an "old man" role with a fantastic clocking of 1:55.7 in the 200-meter freestyle to take the spotlight from still sizzling 17-year-old Mark Spitz Saturday in the National AAU outdoor swimming meet.

Spitz and Schollander, swimming the final two 200 meter legs, teamed to help the Santa Clara Swim Club's "A" team tie the world mark of 7:52.1 in the closing 800-meter freestyle relay.

The Santa Clara foursome, with Spitz and Schollander credited with unofficial 200-meter legs of 1:56.9, was led off by Gary Ilman. Mike Wall swam second.

Schollander and Ilman, along with Roy Saari and Steve Clark, set the world 800-meter relay mark of 7:54.1 in the 1964 Olympics at Tokyo.

The first two Santa Clara swimmers split were 1:59.2 for Ilman and 1:59.1 for Wall. The quartet's 7:52.1 clocking bettered the meet record of 7:56.9 set last year by the Santa Clara club with Spitz and Schollander also winning the last two 200 legs.

Schollander, a badly beaten fifth in Friday's 400-meter freestyle, slashed three tenths of a second from his pending world 200 freestyle record of 1:56.0 set in the recent Pan-American Games. He also smashed his current world record of 1:56.2.

Spitz, meanwhile, became a double winner by grabbing the 200-meter butterfly title in 2:06.4 to match his pending world record also set in the Pan-Am Games two weeks ago. Friday, Spitz took the 100-meter butterfly in 56.7, bettering the existing world mark of 56.3.

Two other double winners appeared in the second day of competition at the new Rehm pool in the Chicago suburb of Oak Park.

Charles Hickcox of Indiana University swam the second-fastest 100-meter backstroke in history at 59.7 and added that to the 200-meter backstroke he won Friday. Hickcox, of the Indiana Athletic Club and Phoenix, Ariz., was one-tenth a second slower than the 100-meter backstroke world record of 59.6 set by Thompson Mann of the U.S. in the 1964 Olympics.

Ken Merten a graduate of Southern Methodist, added the 200-meter breast stroke crown to the 100-meter breaststroke title he won Friday.

Schollander finished eight feet ahead of Greg Charlton of Arcadia, Calif., to retain his 200-meter freestyle title.

Schollander set a pending world 200 mark of 1:56.0 in the recent Pan-American Games. He also holds the existing world record of 1:56.2.

Schollander was crowded until the turn into the final 50 meters when his powerful stroking pulled him steadily ahead of Charlton, who captured the 400-meter freestyle title. Schollander placed fifth Friday.

Schollander, winner of four gold medals in the 1964 Olympics at Tokyo, cruised over the first 100 meters in 56.6 seconds and closed with 59.1.

The three-meter diving crown went to 19-year-old Keith Russell of Mesa, Ariz., who had a strong final four dives to give him a winning total of 555.10 points.

from ages 18 and over. Prepare now for U.S. Civil Service job openings during the next 12 months. Government positions pay high starting salaries. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience. But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five passes.

Lincoln Service has helped thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government. For FREE booklet on Government jobs, including list of positions and salaries, fill out coupon and mail at once — TODAY.

You will also get full details on how you can prepare yourself for these tests. Don't delay — ACT NOW!

New York Jets

GENERAL COMMENT — Coach Weeb Ewbank's five-year plan for Jet propulsion is running out of time, with best to show for it last year's 500 record. But the pieces are beginning to fit together for the final blastoff. Should be best Jet team yet.

OFFENSE

PASSING—Joe Willie Namath has looked so good he has Weeb walking round with fingers

Al Atkinson

RECEIVING — George Sauer Jr. has arrived as outstanding deep threat and Don Maynard crossed, not because Joe's throwing well — he always could — but because he's recovered mobility. Rating—B+

Chapin Captures Consolation Title

ARENZVILLE — Chapin exploded for five runs in the bottom of the third, and held on to the lead for an 8-6 win over Virginia for the consolation bracket championship of the Arenzville softball tourney here Friday night.

Three singles, two Virginia errors, a walk, and a pair of sacrifice flies accounted for the "five spot" which put Chapin on top to stay.

Chapin had taken a 2-0 lead in the second on Ken Lindsey's solo homer, and a pair of singles.

Virginia came back to take a 4-2 budge in the third on doubles by Graves and Webster and two singles, before Chapin's decisive uprising in the bottom of the frame.

Lyndell Cooper went the distance for the victory.

Gold Coast of Jacksonville takes on Arenzville in Saturday night's title contest at 8 p.m. Florence and Beardstown will vie for third place honors beginning at 6:30.

has already been there. With Pete Lammons entrenched at right end, the largest are tops. Lots of depth, too, with rookie Tommy Burnett, vets Bake Turner and Dee Mackey. Rating—A

RUSHING — If Matt Snell and Emerson Boozer can stay 100 per cent all season, there might not be a better set of running threats in football. Snell retains all the potential to be another Brown, Boozer's an improving break-away runner with inside slipperiness. Rating—A—

LINE — Geared to emphasize pass protection, the unchanged veteran front has to develop more aggressive techniques. Burly Dave Herman, a fast-pulling guard, is the only one who really cuts 'em down. Made Paul Seiler of Notre Dame No. 1 draftee in hope of getting some help there. Rating—B—

KICKING — Because they can help out in other areas, place-kicker Jim Turner (reserve QB); punter Curly Johnson (end, morale-booster) merit retention.

DEFENSE

LINE — The anchor is provided on right side by Verlon Biggs, should be great. Tackle Paul Rochester, end Gerry Phillips are shade small, less spectacular but smart hustlers. Rating—B—

LINEBACKERS — So many bodies that Weeb may have to pick 'em out of hat. Obviously, last year's set of Larry Grant-ham, Al Atkinson, Ralph Baker should stay intact. No one will budge Atkinson, but Paul Crane, Jim O'Mahoney and last year's injured rich rookies, Carl McAdams and Bill Yearby, are pushing hard at corners. Rating—B—

Weeb Ewbank

SECONDARY — The one area where a rookie might win a starting job. Henry King already planned as free safety to pair with strong side husky Jim Hudson. Cornell Gordon, old Johnny Sample pretty well set at corners. Ray Abruzzese is swing safety. Rating—B—

SUMMARY — If the men up front do their job, and the key guys (namely Namath) stay healthy, Jets will score plenty of points. In past, they've also given plenty. That's where they'll have to show improvement. PREDICTION—Second in East.

White Pulls Phils Past Cubs, 2-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill White's third straight hit, a sixth inning single, scored Johnny Briggs with the winning run Friday as the Philadelphia Phillies edged the Chicago Cubs, 2-1.

It was the Phillies' ninth victory in the last 10 games and gave veteran Jim Bunning his 13th win. Bunning, who has lost nine, checked the Cubs on seven hits and struck out nine.

One of the Cubs' hits was veteran Ernie Banks' sixth inning single, the No. 2,194 hit of his 14-year career with the club. Banks is second in the Cubs' all-time hit derby. Cap Anson leads with 3,081.

Cookie Rojas drove starter Bill Hands' first pitch over rookie right fielder Clarence Jones' head for a double and scored when Briggs whistled a single past first.

The Cubs made it a 1-1 deadlock in their half of the fifth when catcher Randy Hundley doubled off the left field bleacher wall. With one out, Jim Ellis lined Bunning's 1 and 2 pitch past third for a double to score Hundley with his first major league hit in his first game at bat.

Don Kessinger followed with a single, but Ellis was forced to stop at third. Bunning retired the next two Cubs to end the threat.

Cepeda's Homer Yields Victory

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Orlando Cepeda marked his return to the line-up with a huge two-run homer in the sixth inning and Joe Hoerner came in to put out an eighth-inning Giant uprising as the St. Louis Cardinals slipped past San Francisco 2-1 Friday night.

The victory moved the Cardinals 8½ games ahead of the second-place Chicago Cubs, who lost to Philadelphia, and nine games ahead of San Francisco. Cepeda had been suspended for two games after an argument with umpire Stan Landes Tuesday. His 21st homer of the year drove in Roger Maris and dropped into the second level of the left field stands.

Starter Nelson Briles and loser Gaylord Perry were locked in a scoreless game until Cepeda's blast. In the eighth inning Jesus Alou singled with two out and Willie Mays was safe on an error. Willie McCovey singled in a run and Jim Hart was walked by reliever Ron Willis. Hoerner came in to get pinch hitter Jack Hiatt.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mike Herschberger's bases-loaded single with two out in the 10th inning gave Kansas City a 3-2 victory over Washington Friday night.

Bert Campaneris struck out, leading off the inning, but John Donaldson walked and was thrown out at third when Danny Cater singled. Ken Harrelson was intentionally walked, and Tim Lorton also drew a walk from Joe Coleman, loading the bases.

Dave Baldwin came in for the Senators, and Herschberger greeted him with the game winning hit.

ATLANTA (AP) — Joe Torre blasted his 17th home run of the season with one out in the 16th inning Friday night, giving the Atlanta Braves a 6-5 victory over Houston.

Torre's shot beat Barry Latman and ended the longest game in Atlanta Stadium history. The game lasted four hours, 42 minutes.

Both teams had scored in the 13th. The Astros snapped a 4-4 tie on a single by Joe Morgan, a stolen base and Ed Mathews' base hit.

But the Braves bounced right back with Felipe Alou's leadoff pinch homer tying the game again.

AAU Swimmers Best World Marks

CHICAGO (AP) — Butterfly stroker Mark Spitz, 17, of Santa Clara, Calif., and Southern California free stylist Greg Charlton smashed existing world records, but Olympic star Don Schollander had the poorest outdoor race of his career in Friday's opening of the National AAU Swimming Championships.

Schollander, 21, winner of four gold medals in the 1964 Olympics and once holder of four world records, faded badly to a fifth place finish in the 400-meter free style won by the churning Charlton in 4:09.8.

The 400 free style world mark is 4:11.1, set by East Germany's Frank Wiegand last year but earlier this year bettered by the remarkable Spitz at 4:08.8. Schollander, with a 4:11.2 career best, trailed Charlton to the finish some 10 yards behind in 4:14.1.

Spitz, who also has pending world marks in the 100 and 200 butterfly, foamed to a successful AAU 100 title defense in :56.7—bettering the existing world record of :57.0 but below the :56.3 the superb youngster twice has swum this year.

Spitz, Indiana University's Charles Hockox in the 200-meter backstroke, and Ken Merten, Southern Methodist grad, in the 100 breaststroke all staged successful title defenses.

Besides Schollander in the 400-meter free style, one-meter AAU diving champion Brnie Wrightson of Denver, Colo., also was dethroned.

Wrightson, Arizona State ace fresh from a three-meter gold medal in the Pan-American Games, finished third as the title went to Jim Henry, an Indiana University sophomore-to-be, who piled up 489.85 points. Ohio State's Chuck Knorr took second with 488.25, and Wrightson settled for third with 484.0.

The 400 meter individual medley title, undefended by ailing Dick Roth of Stanford, was captured by Peter Williams of Michigan State University in the fair time of 4:50.8. Roth holds the world record of 4:45.4.

The three-day AAU meet opened with a seven-final program at the new Rehm Park Olympic-type pool where swimmers shivered in 65-degree weather in the morning preliminaries but were warmed by a bright sun in the late afternoon finals.

Hickox finished a stroke ahead of 16-year old Ray Rivero of Santa Clara, Calif., who was clocked in 2:12.5. Third was Mark Mader, this year's short course champion from the Los Angeles Athletic Club, who was timed in 2:12.7.

Mark Spitz, 17-year-old Santa Clara, Calif., sensation, spurred to a successful defense of his 100 meter butterfly crown but failed in a try on his pending world record.

Spitz, winning by a full meter over Doug Russell of Midland, Tex., had a fine 56.7 clocking that bettered the existing world mark of 57.0 but was shy of young Mark's 56.3 gold medal win in the recent Pan-American Games.

Both Spitz and Russell, timed in 57.4, bettered the AAU meet and American record of 57.5 set by Minnesota's Walt Richardson in 1964.

Luis Nicolao, Argentine who swims for the Santa Clara Athletic Club and set the current butterfly world mark of 57.0 in 1964.

Lolich Hurls Tigers To Split With Baltimore

DETROIT (AP) — Mickey Lolich snapped a personal 10-game losing streak, pitching the Detroit Tigers to a 5-2 victory and a split in a two-night doubleheader with the Baltimore Orioles Friday.

Tom Phoebus, with relief help from Stu Miller, beat Detroit 5-1 in the opener.

Lolich, 6-12, last won May 19 when he beat New York. He gave up five hits and struck out eight including Frank and Brooks Robinson, Paul Blair and Sam Bowens in succession in the sixth and seventh innings.

Detroit broke the game open with three runs in the fourth, all after two were out. Loser Pete Richert, 6-12, gave up consecutive doubles to Al Kaline and Willie Horton. Richert walked the bases-loaded and then Jim Northrup hit a two-run single.

Brooks Robinson drove in two runs with a double and sacrifice fly in the opener and Phoebus held the Tigers without a hit for 5 1-3 innings.

1962 placed seventh in the eight-man field with 59.4.

An upset came in the 400-meter free style when Olympic star Don Schollander was soundly beaten fifth behind a record-smashing triumph by Grey Charlton, Southern California star.

Charlton led all the way to win in 4:09.8, bettering the existing world mark of 4:11.1, but behind Spitz' pending world mark of 4:08.8. It also shattered Schollander's AAU meet and American record of 4:11.6 set last year.

Schollander, winner of four gold medals in the 1964 Tokyo Olympics, never was better than tied for second and faded badly in the closing 50 when Charlton poured on a terrific burst of speed.

Although both were closed in 4:12.3, second place in the 400 was awarded to Mike Burton of UCLA over John Nelson of the Jack Nelson S.C., Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

In dethroning defending champion Schollander, the 19-year-old Charlton, newly-crowned Pan-American champion, swam splits of 1:00.0, 2:04.4, 3:08.3 and 4:09.8.

The 100-meter breaststroke title was retained by Ken Merten, Southern Methodist grad representing the Los Angeles A.C., in 1:03.7, almost a full second behind the meet record.

Merten moved ahead at the 50-meter turn and won going away with Mike Buckley of the Villanova Swim Association of Philadelphia placing second in 1:10.3. Russ Webb of the Santa Monica, Calif., swim club also had 1:10.3, but was awarded third.

Winner To Pick From Hart, Two Rookies At QB

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) — With veteran quarterback Charley Johnson scheduled for Army induction Aug. 22, Coach Charley Winner of the St. Louis Football Cardinals said Friday he will go with three young, inexperienced signal callers.

"We can't get panicky," Winner said. "We're going with what we have." With the National Football League campaign five weeks away, Winner has Jim Hart, a one-year man with 17 NFL plays at quarterback to his credit, and two untried rookies.

Johnson, who holds a commission in the Army reserve, was notified Thursday of his induction. The Cardinals announced it Friday morning.

St. Louis had expected to make a strong bid for the NFL title this fall with a healthy Johnson. The six-year veteran missed seven complete games last year with a knee injury that required surgery.

Hart, signed as a free agent a year ago off the Southern Illinois University campus, appears tabbed as the No. 1 quarterback. Rounding out the quarterback crew are rookies Tim Van Galder and Vidal Carlin.

Jenkins Certain He Will Become 20-Game Winner

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs have had only two 20-game winners in the last 21 years. Fergie Jenkins is confident he will become pitcher No. 3.

The lanky, 23-year-old right-hander who starred in hockey, soccer and basketball as well as baseball as a prep in South Chatham, Ontario, has become the season's first 15-game winner in the National League.

He hurled a four-hit, 6-0 shutout over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the opener of a doubleheader Wednesday to boost his mark to 15-9.

Since 1945, only Larry Jackson with 24-11 in 1964 and Dick Ellsworth with 22-10 in 1963 have been 20-game Cub winners.

"Before the season started I thought I would be doing well if I just doubled my victories of last year when I won six," said Fergie. "But when the ball club began doing so well, I set my goal a little higher."

"Now, I don't see why I can't make it 20. I could get three or four more starts this month and seven or eight in September."

Dodgers Halt Reds' String At Five, 5-0

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jim Lefebvre keyed three Dodger rallies, reaching base four times on three hits and an error, as Los Angeles shut out Cincinnati 5-0 Friday night and snapped the Reds' three-game winning streak.

Jim Brewer picked up his fifth victory of the season against only two defeats as he scattered four harmless singles in the seven innings he pitched. He was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth and replaced by Ron Perranoski.

The Dodgers jumped on starter and loser Jim Maloney for two runs in the first with the aid of an error by Lee May. May, Oliver led off the inning with a single and with one out, Willie Davis walked and Ron Fairly followed with a double to score Oliver. Then Lefebvre reached first when May bobbled his grounder that allowed Davis to score.

Los Angeles scored once in the fourth after Lefebvre led off with a double and twice in the sixth when Lou Johnson cracked his sixth homer to knock in Lefebvre, who had singled.

Rookie Hurls, Bats Mets Past Pittsburgh 3-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Danny Frisella, a rookie pitcher, drove in one run, scored another and with late inning help from Don Shaw, pitched the New York Mets to a 3-2 victory over Pittsburgh Friday night.

The loser was Dennis Ribant, an ex-Met. He yielded a run in the first on Bud Harrelson's single, a two-base error by Manny Mota and a single by Larry Stahl.

The Mets made it 3-0 in the third when Jerry Grote singled and scored on Frisella's double. An infield out and a passed ball allowed Frisella to score what turned out to be the winning run.

Hits by Bill Mazeroski and Mota produced a Pirate run in the fifth and Pittsburgh knocked Frisella out in the seventh when Mota tripled and scored on an infield out.

Set August 23 For Opening Of Prep Grid Drills

Football practice for members of the Illinois High School Association officially gets under way on Wednesday, August 23.

Some schools will issue equipment and arrange to have players take their required physical examinations at an earlier date but under the rules of the Association, no school may organize or practice its team before the second Wednesday preceding Labor Day.

Players must have engaged in a minimum of ninety minutes of actual field practice on each of fourteen days preceding the first interschool game or scrimmage and no school may play its opening game earlier than Friday, September 15, this year.

These rules were adopted by the members of the Association for the protection of the players and to promote equality in competition among the schools.

This fall approximately 525 high schools belonging to the IHSAA will participate in football.

Minnesota Cuts White Sox' Lead Via 3-2 Victory

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Tony Oliva lined his second run-scoring single of the game to left with two out in the seventh inning, lifting Minnesota past the Chicago White Sox 3-2 Friday night.

Zoilo Versalles, who had singled and stolen second, raced home with the run that broke a 2-2 tie as Oliva laced the first pitch from relief pitcher Wilbur Wood over the shortstop's head.

Wood relieved Bob Locker, who had come in to pitch to one batter—Cesar Tovar—and retired him on a grounder to third base. Versalles touched John Buzhardt for his hit that ignited the winning rally, then stole second easily as catcher J. C. Martin dropped the ball on a swinging strike to Tovar.

Minnesota tied it with a run off Buzhardt in the sixth when Bob Hallard singled, moved to second on a ground out and scored on pinch hitter Russ Nixon's single to center.

Christ Waits in Ghettos
For Action after Prayer

David Poling

By DAVID POLING
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When President Johnson called for a National Day of Prayer for Reconciliation and urged the religious leaders to offer prayers for racial peace, I was struck with a certain dismay and apprehension. It seemed that instead of reaching out to the tragic needs of our urban society, we were beating a retreat into the sanctuary of religion, hoping that God would not forget us, although we regularly had failed him.

That may be a harsh judgment, but does our record support a more lenient criticism?

For the last two decades, the churches have been ignoring the ghetto and inner city. There are a few outposts of vigorous, and lively witness, but generally the money and power and prestige has been invested in the slopes of suburbia. Whenever churchmen have rallied around the cause of racial justice, they have faced bloody punishment from their own members.

In Rochester, N.Y., the Council of Churches supported Saul Alinsky's FIGHT organization which had the primary controversy with Eastman Kodak over jobs for Negroes. Although this year-long agitation has finally been resolved, the Council of Churches lost $22,000 in contributions and faces an intolerable deficit.

In Cleveland, Ohio, several of the leading clergymen in the city were forced out of their pulpits because of outspoken stands on community racial problems.

Yes, the racial disorders of the American city should be a primary concern of all religious groups—a prayerful concern. But as the predominantly white community is called upon by a white president to pray for peace, I recalled that incident where the disciples sought to heal a very sick youngster.

They failed and the desperate family turned to Jesus.

He healed the unfortunate victim, restoring his sanity and well-being. When the disciples asked why they were unable to overcome the evil spirit that was destroying the young man, Jesus replied, "This kind never comes out except by prayer and fasting." (Matthew 17:21).

Only by the total spiritual commitment of prayer, love and intense faith would this evil spirit yield. The disciples had not, and most of us have not, achieved such a single-minded devotion. Unfortunately, our Day of Reconciliation seemed like prayer by the whites and fasting for the Negroes.

Our family attended services at St. Peter's Lutheran Church in New York on the Sunday set aside by the President for Prayer and Reconciliation. I was startled, with many others, to hear the Epistle lesson for the day (selected a year in advance in liturgical churches) read from Luke 19:41-47.

And when he drew near and saw the city, he wept over it, saying, Would that even today you knew the things that make for peace! But they are hid from your eyes.

When the President called for the Day of Prayer, he also announced an 11-man Special Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders. But I wonder if we really need another study any more than we need another Senate hearing or a new church pronouncement. We have heard and studied and pronounced while rats roam and children cry and Detroit burns.

Whitney Young Jr. isn't a preacher or the president but he said it for both when he remarked, America has to decide whether it is going to exterminate or liberate the Negro.

We have had our day of prayer and reconciliation. This is in keeping with the example and teaching of Christ. But let us remember that He always followed prayer with action, petitions became power, and people were changed in unusual and wonderful ways.

So let the bankers pray about finding new channels of mortgage and housing money; let the unions and employers startle us with new hope for jobs, let the educators and teachers initiate new programs, and let the churches stop running and start serving Christ in the ghetto. He is there waiting for them. When this happens, a president won't have to call for prayer and reconciliation—he can simply applaud it.

Legion Women From Greene Visit Hospital

ROODHOUSE — After attending the American Legion Auxiliary and Eight and Forty convention in Chicago, Mrs. Verna B. Taylor went to Chicago Children's Memorial Hospital which is connected with Northwestern Medical Clinic and to the Municipal Tuberculosis Sanatorium to visit the tuberculosis and cystic fibrosis children patients.

After many years of volunteer work with children both in Illinois hospitals and National Jewish Hospital in Denver, Colo., Mrs. Taylor was interested in the new medical aids and research ideas used with promoting better health at these hos-

Others from this community and area on the tour were Cora Dameron of Roodhouse and Ruth Hitch, Lela Hubbard and Pansy McCarthy of White Hall.

Mrs. Taylor, a past executive director of the tuberculosis association and a state officer, is at present on the board of the Greene County TB Association. Ruth Hitch and Lela Hubbard also serve on this board.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Savage have returned from a vacation spent at Bagnell Dam and with relatives at Chester and Benton. Mr. Savage will return to his duties as custodian and bus driver for the Roodhouse center, North Greene Elementary schools, on Monday.

Each July 4, U.S. military installations customarily fire a cannon salvo equal to the number of states.

Identical Twins in Germany

Arthur Schumacher

David Schumacher

Airmen Third Class Arthur and David Schumacher, identical twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Schumacher of Chapin, are now stationed with the Air Force in West Germany.

They are serving with the 26th Civil Engineering Squadron at the Ramstein Air Force Base.

The Airmen have recently completed a 12-week Construction Equipment Operators School at Port Huene, Calif. While there, they were trained in the operation of all types of trucks, fork lifts, front end loaders, bulldozers, dirt scrapers, and trenching machines.

The school also included the basic instruction of surveying and civil engineering.

Both Arthur and David entered the service on January 31, of this year. They received their basic training at Amarillo Air Force Base in Amarillo, Texas.

LITTLE REFUGEE at Pallamur, Turkey, finds little to smile about after earthquakes hit her area recently. Thousands of persons in that nation refused to return to their homes after the series of quakes, afraid of being trapped or buried in case the earth trembled again. Instead, they preferred to live in the open, even if their homes were still intact.

Retired Teacher Tours Expo '67

By Christine Hembrough

Another fan who prefers to remain anonymous, is a retired Jacksonville teacher and was lucky enough to get to Expo '67. A frequent traveler as she mentioned going to such places as Europe, France, and the Chicago, Seattle, and New York world's fair, she claimed that Expo is an "exhibition" not a "fair."

Leaving around the third of July and returning in two weeks she said she had a marvelous time. They drove up around Michigan and took the trans Canadian highway right into Montreal.

Rating Expo as in the "A" category, the first thing she and her husband did was to ride the elevated train and get a bird's eye view. It was absolutely "tremendous, unbelievable, she said."

Patriotically the social science teacher and her husband went to the U.S. pavilion. They had to stay in line for some time to see a movie and thought that it wasn't as good as it could have been, and the Hollywood part was over emphasized. They also had an Apollo space craft in here and they thought that that was very interesting.

Russia also had a very popular pavilion and communism was "written" over it completely. They liked the weightless chamber part of this pavilion best, although they didn't go into that. Interestingly enough, this pavilion was assembled in Milan, Italy and will return there when the fair is over.

The retired teacher went to many other pavilions, in fact, she said, "well over half. There's 70 you know." Great Britain did a wonderful job on their pavilion. They showed everything in their life, religion, education, family life, styles, "Oh, everything!" she quipped merrily.

France, having the largest pavilion, also eagerly captured the woman's heart with their glorious fashions, Dior, perfumes, art, the way of life, and it was "elegant" she said. Also she noted the pavilion was a curving, concrete form arching in and out of water.

The Canada telephone exhibit, the Swiss pavilion, they were all so wonderful she told me as she went on into greater depth. Although she didn't go on many rides, she gave me a report of Laronde as it's called. And, this is going to be a permanent part of Canada, so maybe you can get to it! Meni rails, spires, and scary gyrations, (loud noises, triangles, monsters, molten lava-sounds like fun!), rides on real elephants, ostrich, zebras, an ancient merry-go-round from Belgium, a ferris wheel different from the usual ones, and many many rides cover the area of 135 acres.

Theme buildings were all around, and the theme of the fair is "To be a man is to feel that through one's contribution one helps to build the world, and that man is: a creator, explorer, provider, producer, and a man of his community."

Thanks for sharing your fun with us, retired teacher. (See teens, teachers aren't all bad!)

P.S. If anyone, meaning YOU has an idea, question, or suggestion or recipe, WRITE to me in care of: TEEN SCENE, Junior Page, Jacksonville Journal Courier, Jacksonville, Ill. 62550. And please, don't any one call up all of the Hembrough's in the phone book asking how to get in touch with me.

LUNCH TIME—ALBUQUERQUE, N.M.—Albuquerque Zoo Director John Roth feeds an Australian wallaby, estimated at 5 to 6 months old which came out of its mother's pouch about two months too soon. Dubbed "Pal Joey" by zoo personnel, the wallaby will be about 30 inches tall when full grown.

(UPI Telephoto)

They were really elaborate affairs.

The couple was lucky enough not to have any trouble. As advice they gave: "Work on one island at a time, and see the pavilions first." "Also work out a plan of where you want to go."

"There has never been anything like it you can't begin to imagine what it's like unless you've been there. The trip was marvelous. I loved it all!"

She also went on to state that: "Australia had to expose 30 kangaroos to pop music and large crowds so they wouldn't have nervous breakdowns, and the tropical animals had to spend the winter in Montreal getting acclimated to the weather."

All in all, I'm quite sure she had a wonderful time and I'm quite sure that anyone else who goes will too.

Thanks for sharing your fun with us, retired teacher. (See teens, teachers aren't all bad!)

P.S. If anyone, meaning YOU has an idea, question, or suggestion or recipe, WRITE to me in care of: TEEN SCENE, Junior Page, Jacksonville Journal Courier, Jacksonville, Ill. 62550. And please, don't any one call up all of the Hembrough's in the phone book asking how to get in touch with me.

MY DOG LUCKY

I have a puppy by the name of Lucky. On the night we got him, we had bad luck, though. We were at the fair when suddenly it started to pour rain. My family, my dog, and I all got into a telephone booth. There were eight of us in the telephone booth. Then lightning came, so we ran under a roof. We were soaking wet. Our dog was wet too! I had a sweat shirt on, so I put my dog in my sweat shirt. My aunt who lived across the street from the fair gave us some dry clothes. We really took good care of the puppy.

MY DOG ROVER

I always sneaked in a soft chair when the family was out. One day I went out to find some food and there was nothing to eat so I ran away. A boy found me. He liked me and fed me. Now once again I have the softest seat in my new home.

Art time is my favorite subject in school. I like to make "animules" and a lady and a boy and a girl, out of paper mache. I like to play with gray clay. And in art I like to make a clay mask, too. I like to make a picture of my school.

In the 17th and 18th centuries French spread through the world as the language of civilized men. Prussian Emperor Frederick the Great wrote in French. The Russian aristocracy spoke it. In the 19th and 20th centuries English began to challenge French's international popularity.

Stockholm, Sweden, has an unusual performing clock. As bells play, St. George appears on a balcony. Behind him on a horse is the princess he has rescued. His page comes into sight dragging the slain dragon. A tipsy porter is next who opens the city gate for the procession, then closes it to end the show.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, AUGUST 13 — Born today, you are one of those whose determination is often misconstrued as stubbornness, for you will stick to a project, an idea, or an opinion long after the one appears doomed to failure, the second appears to have no chance to bear fruit, and the third is at odds with opinions all around you. Surprisingly enough for your critics, however, you are usually proved right in the end, for the project that seemed failing somehow succeeds, the idea does bear fruit, and the opinion turns out to be right.

You men born on this date have extremely well-disciplined minds. Nothing can disturb the logic of your thinking once it is set in motion. You women, on the other hand, may appear not nearly so logical — but you have an abundance of what is termed "Women's intuition," which is, after all, nothing but certain logic with some of the middle steps removed. Intelligence, wit, and a natural charm mark men and women alike.

Basically home-loving, no amount of success could turn you away from your family. Should you find that your career is taking too much time away from the home, so much so that you are virtually single even though much married, you will give up your work completely. Knowing this about yourself, don't be surprised if sometime in middle life you turn to a second career.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, August 14
 LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Have confidence in your own ability to bring an idea to a plan and a plan to fruition. Another's disapproval can be overlooked.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Continue to cooperate with others on the employment scene. If you try to play your hand alone, you may land in difficulties.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Take the initiative in the matter of advancement on the employment scene or in making a complete change of jobs.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — If you're looking for extra-special results either at home or at work today, you're going to have to put out extra-special effort.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — A day when fortune smiles on almost anything you undertake. A good time for beginning projects you've been fearful of.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Don't expect to be in the winner's circle by day's end unless you run a good race throughout the working hours.

Advanced Police Training Bill Is Approved

Mayor Byron Holkenbrink, a member of the Illinois Police Training Board, has informed the Journal Courier that Governor Kerner has signed Senate bill 393 to provide $2,194,000 for advanced police training.

The bill, to be administered by the board, will be for basic recruit training and for advanced training for permanent police officers in police training schools in the state.

Military Rites Conducted For Captain Woodson

Military services for Captain Richard E. Woodson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Woodson of Winchester, were held at 2 p.m. Thursday, at Camp Butler National Cemetery in Springfield.

The 29-year old Air Force fighter pilot was killed Tuesday, August 1, when his plane was hit by enemy groundfire while on a mission over Vietnam.

A concelebrated mass for Captain Woodson was offered at St. Mark's Catholic church in Winchester by Rev. James P. O'Hara, Rev. Hugh Cassidy, and Rev. Neal Dee.

Palbearers were Leo Cimino, Major K. C. Beverly, Michael R. Johnson, Robert P. Johnson, James Devore and Randy Killebrew. The honor guard was from the Chanute Air Force Base ceremonial detachment.

Colonel Bush, Major Holzinger, Captain Lucas, and Captain Bray of the 183rd Tactical Fighter Group of the Illinois Air National Guard, Springfield, honored Captain Woodson and his relatives at the gravesite in an aerial salute in a missing man formation of F804F aircraft.

Major Summers I. Howard was the official escort detailed by the Air Force for the Captain's widow, Mrs. Richard E. Woodson and daughters.

Ammons Rites To Be Held Here

Funeral services for J. Paul Ammons, who died Wednesday in San Antonio, Tex., will be held here Monday, Mr. Ammons, 75, was married to the former Leah Cassell, who died in 1964.

Services are scheduled at 2 p.m. Monday at the Williamson Funeral Home. Reverend Donald Zumbult will officiate and entombment will be in Diamond Grove mausoleum.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 11 a.m. Monday until time of services.

Stout Services Conducted Here

Funeral services for Mrs. Patricia Ann Stout were held at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the Williamson Funeral Home. Reverend William J. Boston officiating. Phyllis Evans was the organist.

Caring for the flowers were June Nunes, Norma Graves, Pat Hopper and Ruth Hill.

Serving as pallbearers were Leonard Rowland Jr., John Hopper, Melvin Hill, Bill Nunes, Fred Fritz and Frank Birdsall. Burial was in Jacksonville East cemetery.

TICKET OHIO MAN IN SCOTT ACCIDENT
 State police ticketed an Ohio man for improper passing Friday evening after he was involved in a two-car accident at the junction of Ill. 100 and U.S. 36-54 west of Winchester.

Officers reported that a unit, driven by Raymond B. Hays, 25, of Peoria was attempting a left turn onto Ill. 100. A second eastbound auto, driven by Charles O. Litton, 60, of Chillicothe, Ohio attempted to pass the Hays vehicle.

The Hays auto turned into the side of the Litton vehicle. Litton said that he did not see the yellow no passing line, nor the turn indicator on the Hays car. Litton was ticketed for improper passing.

CHECK SMOLDERING CHAIR
 City firemen were called to 1162 West College about 11:30 p.m. Friday where a chair was reported smoldering.

Firemen said that the piece of furniture was checked and the fire extinguished at the Mrs. Frank Rantz residence.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Actions speak for themselves today. No matter what you say, people are going to judge you now by what you do.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — The vigorously assertive Cancer stands the best chance of putting his ideas over. Bring your case before higher-ups.

Holkenbrink was a member of the Central Illinois Mayors Association committee which originally presented the program to the Illinois Municipal League which in turn made the proposal to the Illinois legislature.

Prior to the enactment of the law, funds were only being provided for the training of recruits.

New members of the Jacksonville police force have for the past several years participated in the recruit training courses, taught at the University of Illinois.

With the new bill, other regular officers will have the opportunity for refresher courses, and advanced courses dealing with all phases of police law enforcement.

Each local municipality shares half of the expense with the state for tuition, room and board during the training period, at a school, either private or public, and which offers courses in police training which have been approved by the board.

Total sales during January, February, and March of this year amounted to $11,594,329; almost a quarter of a million dollars off the $11,838,234 retail sales total recorded in early 1966.

The largest gains of 1967 were in furniture, household goods and radios; apparel; and foods. Drinking and eating establishments, and miscellaneous retail and wholesale stores recorded slight increases.

The sharpest decline was reported in the auto and filling station category: down $539,178; and manufacturers category: down $117,570.

A breakdown of the 10 categories showed:

General Merchandise: 1967—$1,565,626; 1966—$1,566,205.
Food: 1967—$2,329,803; 1966—$2,255,377.

Business — Market Wrapup

All Grains Close Off Last Week

CHICAGO (AP) — All grain futures prices declined on the Chicago Board of Trade during the week, and for corn futures it marked the 10th straight week of lower prices.

Wheat futures, which had four successive days of lower prices, closed Friday at 1.51 1/4-%, or 1 1/4 to 4 cents a bushel under the close a week ago; corn was 1.19 1/4-%, 1 1/4 to 2 1/2 cents lower; oats closed at 69 1/2 cents or 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents lower; rye was 1.21 1/4-% or 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 cents lower and soybeans closed at 2.73-72%, or 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents lower.

Soybean oil closed at 9.32, or 1 to 10 points higher than a week ago, while soybean meal closed at 74.05-10, cents lower to 25 higher than on Aug. 4.

Since June 5, when the short-lived Israeli-Arab states war started and soybeans and grains hit near-limits for the day, wheat futures have declined 26 cents a bushel, corn and soybeans 25 cents each. Oats and rye, which moved over a narrower range and in which trade is much slower than in the major commodities, also were lower since June 5. Oats prices have lost about 5 cents and rye about 10 cents.

Factors cited by knowledgeable traders for the decline of prices. Record corn, wheat and soybeans crops for 1967 is the main reason, but lack of exports and a shrinking U.S. market abroad for grains and commodities obtainable cheaper elsewhere are other factors.

Wheat futures had shown some inclination to advance the previous week but opened Monday and through Thursday had fallen 6 cents a bushel. Rye futures declined steadily during the week and through Thursday showed a loss of 5 cents a bushel.

However, after the close of the exchange Thursday, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported its estimated 1967 production of grains. The USDA said that as of Aug. 1, it appeared the wheat crop would total a record 1.511 billion bushels, 15 per cent more than last year, but 85 million less than the estimate as of July 1.

The corn crop was estimated at a record 4.651 billion bushels, 13 per cent more than last year, while soybeans production was estimated at a record 999 million bushels, or about 6 per cent more than last year.

Because the wheat estimate was lower than a month ago, traders bid prices higher on the opening Friday and the bread grain was off on the first day of higher prices in a week. Prices closed 2 1/4 cents higher for the day.

The corn estimate, still pointing to a record, tended to depress futures on the opening and corn set three seasonal lows in the first minute of trade.

Later in the day, under good commercial and local buying, corn closed mostly higher, but under prices a week ago.

Good commercial support helped prop soybeans prices Friday in the best showing of the week.

Soybean oil showed a slight advance, mostly in the nearby contracts, under increased usage and export authorizations. However, soybean meal declined.

Week In Business

Many Factors Indicate Economy Growth Ahead

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The economy produced encouraging signs this past week of the start of a climb from the doldrums in which business wallowed during most of the first half of this year.

They were:

—Employment in July rose to the highest level in history.

—Total construction activity advanced in June to the highest rate in 13 months.

—Retail sales increased in June to a record total.

These developments and other factors prompted Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler to say that the danger of recession is now past and the outlook is for economic expansion.

The only difference of opinion, he said, is whether the expansion will be moderate or "highly boomy."

Fowler supported President Johnson's proposal of a 10 per cent income tax surcharge, saying its enactment would be consistent with a healthy growing economy.

The Chase Manhattan Bank of New York predicted that the economy will complete a "modest adjustment" by the end of the year if consumer spending continues at its present high level.

"Consumer incomes are still rising," the bank said. "Surveys show that the mood of consumers is one of growing optimism—always a favorable augury of spending patterns. And other surveys indicate that their intentions to spend are strong."

Chase cited two major factors as contributing greatly to the smoothness of the adjustment process.

"Inventories, the principal problem, are being brought into line with sales," the bank said. "The rate of inventory building dropped from more than $18 billion in late 1966 to about $2 billion in the second quarter of 1967."

"Investment in new plants and equipment has slowed slightly, following the unsustainable average 16 per cent annual increase of the last three years. With operating rates declining, the incentive to add capacity at the five per cent a year pace that prevailed since 1960 is obsolete."

But starting in 1968, the bill would be substantially higher. This is due to the different effective dates proposed in the plan Johnson outlined last January and the one he sent to Congress last week.

The now-discarded 6 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate taxes was proposed in January to take effect on July 1.

The higher surcharge proposed last week would take effect Oct. 1 for individuals if Congress approves.

viously reduced."

At the same time, the bank said, the overall effect of these adjustments has been held to modest proportions by gains elsewhere in the economy.

The Labor Department reported that 76.2 million Americans held jobs in July, up 1.6 million from a year earlier. The jobs increase in July was 340,000 larger than normally expected for the month. The unemployment rate dipped to 3.9 per cent of the labor force last month from four per cent in June.

New construction put in place in June totaled $6.9 billion, up nine per cent from May and up one per cent from June 1966, the Commerce Department reported.

The National Association of Purchasing Agents said 35 per cent of its members reported their inventories were down in July. This compared with 32 per cent reporting a decline in June and 31 per cent in April and May.

The Commerce Department reported a revision of figures showed retail sales in June reached a record $26.48 billion, up two per cent from May and four per cent from June 1966.

The recent heavy volume forced the New York and American stock exchanges and several regional exchanges to shorten their daily trading sessions by 90 minutes, starting last Tuesday. The aim was to give brokers extra time in which to handle paper work that has overtaxed their clerical staffs.

Production of 1968 model cars was stepped up this past week with output estimated at 33,300 units, compared with 22,622 last week and 8,500 a year earlier.

Production in the 1967 model year totaled 7,656,000 passenger cars, compared with 8,606,049 in 1966, and was the lowest since 1963, when 7,340,104 autos were turned out.

Steel output last week rose 0.3 per cent to 2,337,000 tons from 2,331,000 tons the previous week.

American per capita income—more than double the next highest—continues to outstrip that of other major economic powers. The six-nation European Economic Community (Common Market) has shown the greatest percentage increase, however.

10% Surcharge To Take Less—For Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because of its later effective date, President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes would cost the individual taxpayer less this year than the administration's original 6 per cent plan.

But starting in 1968, the bill would be substantially higher. This is due to the different effective dates proposed in the plan Johnson outlined last January and the one he sent to Congress last week.

Government witnesses are expected to use the potential size of the budget deficit—as much as $29 billion—as their main argument for a surcharge when hearings begin next Monday before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Increased war costs, high interest rates and even sacrifice for U.S. fighting men in Vietnam are other arguments the administration witnesses expect to cite but the deficit is emerging as the main rallying point.

Johnson gave a chalk and blackboard preview of the administration case to a group of House Democrats Tuesday. George Christian, White House press secretary, reported that between 50 and 60 congressmen assembled in the State Dining Room at the White House, but instead of food they got the financial seminar.

The session, one in a series for congressional groups, lasted about an hour, Christian said, and covered the entire fiscal picture of taxes, finances and budget.

The same proportion is true all along the line.

There is always the chance that Congress might save the taxpayer even more by delaying the effective date until Jan. 1. For corporations, the tax bite would be substantially higher both this year and next. The surcharge would still be effective July 1 but at the 10 per cent rate.

Shortened Trading Session Stabilizes N.Y. Stock Market

By ED MORSE

NEW YORK (AP)—A yellow caution light was blinking on Wall Street last week as the market backed off from its recent peak and the exchanges cut trading hours so that brokerage firms could catch up with a heavy backlog of paperwork.

Even as the week began there was uneasiness because in the previous week the market had surged to new highs for 1967 on record volume, but was dampened late in the week by President Johnson's request for a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes.

Then, on Tuesday the major exchanges put into effect four-hour trading sessions instead of the usual 5 1/2 hours so that member firms could clean up their clerical work which had led to considerable confusion.

As the week neared its end it was decided to continue the abbreviated sessions all of next week as well.

The shortened sessions did have the effect of cutting volume to 46,507,220 shares for the week compared with the record 60,769,050 shares of the previous week.

So great was the interest in the market, however, that on Wednesday volume soared to 10.1 million shares, well above the record-breaking average of 9.9 million shares for the first seven months of this year—based on full, 5 1/2-hour trading days.

Great activity by the so called "performance" mutual funds and other institutional investors which are adopting more and more of a trading attitude rather than an investment attitude was cited as a reason for the heavy trading.

Wall Street sources said that these funds were taking profits on a wide range of glamor stocks and others which have piled up big gains. Then they were switching to blue chips or other more stable issues more closely linked with the business cycle.

A general confidence in a rising economy was spurred by Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler who said that the danger of recession is past and the outlook is for economic expansion.

The Dow Jones industrial average last week lost 3.12 at 920.65.

Of 1,597 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 621 rose and 835 fell.

Newton D. Zinder of E.F. Hutton & Co. said there was "preliminary caution signal at least on a very short term trading basis."

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Livestock prices were generally mixed at the Chicago Stockyards this week.

After a week of trade, slaughter steers closed 25 to 75 cents higher Friday, while slaughter heifers were unevenly steady to 25 cents higher. Butcher hogs were steady to 50 cents lower and spring slaughter lambs closed steady.

The average price of butcher hogs was the lowest in three months.

Cattle receipts totaled 23,600 for the week, compared with 24,500 a week ago. Prime slaughter steers weighing 1,150 to 1,400 pounds brought 27.75 to 28.50, while mixed high choice and prime 950 to 1,350 pounds

THUGS RANSACK OSCAR MAYER BUYING STATION

GREENFIELD — The Oscar Mayer buying station on U.S. 67 south of Greenfield was burglarized Thursday night. Arthur Neumann, manager of the firm, reported the unknown intruders made off with 300 company bank drafts which were not signed.

A record of the missing draft numbers has been secured by the authorities. Mr. Neumann found the office strewn with office supplies when he arrived Friday morning.

The thieves gained entrance to the office by breaking the lock on a supply room door adjacent to the office and entered the office from a rear door. They ignored the prizes purchased from Friday's opening. Donald Vinyard, Greene County Sheriff, conducted an investigation and obtained fingerprints believed to be those of the burglars.

Open House was held at the New Oscar Mayer plant Friday with a capacity crowd in attendance. Arthur Neumann, manager, greeted the guests. Door prizes were won by Harold Gibler, Charles Dukles, Donald Wilton and Carson Scott.

Retail sales in Jacksonville during the first quarter of 1967 are down slightly compared with 1966 figures according to Chamber of Commerce statistics released last week.

Total sales during January, February, and March of this year amounted to $11,594,329; almost a quarter of a million dollars off the $11,838,234 retail sales total recorded in early 1966.

The largest gains of 1967 were in furniture, household goods and radios; apparel; and food. Drinking and eating establishments, and miscellaneous retail and wholesale stores recorded slight increases.

The sharpest decline was reported in the auto and filling station category: down $539,178; and manufacturers category: down $117,570.

A breakdown of the 10 categories showed:

General Merchandise: 1967—$1,565,626; 1966—$1,566,205.

Business — Market Wrapup

All Grains Close Off Last Week

CHICAGO (AP) — All grain futures prices declined on the Chicago Board of Trade during the week, and for corn futures it marked the 10th straight week of lower prices.

Wheat futures, which had four successive days of lower prices, closed Friday at 1.51 1/4-3/8, or 1 1/4 to 4 cents a bushel under the close a week ago; corn was 1.19 1/2-3/4, 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents lower; oats closed at 69 1/2 cents or 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents lower; rye was 1.21 1/4 or 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 cents lower and soybeans closed at 2.73 7/8, or 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents lower. Soybean oil closed at 9.32, or 1 to 10 points higher than a week ago, while soybean meal closed at 74.05-10, some lower to 25 higher than on Aug. 4.

Since June 5, when the short-lived Israeli-Arab states war started and soybeans and grains hit near-limits for the day, wheat futures have declined 26 cents a bushel, corn and soybeans 25 cents each. Oats and rye, which moved over a narrower range and in which trade is much slower than in the major commodities, also were lower since June 5. Oats prices have lost about 5 cents and rye about 10 cents.

However, after the close of the exchange Thursday, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported its estimated 1967 production of grains. The USDA said that as of Aug. 1, it appeared the wheat crop would total a record 1.511 billion bushels, 15 per cent more than last year, but 85 million less than the estimate as of July 1.

The corn crop was estimated at a record 4.651 billion bushels, 13 per cent more than last year, while soybeans production was estimated at a record 999 million bushels, or about 6 per cent more than last year.

Because the wheat estimate was lower than a month ago, traders bid prices higher on the opening Friday and the bread grain was off on the first day of higher prices in a week. Prices closed 2 1/4 cents higher for the day.

The corn estimate, still pointing to a record, tended to depress futures on the opening and corn set three seasonal lows in the first minute of trade.

Later in the day, under good commercial and local buying, corn closed mostly higher, but under prices a week ago.

Good commercial support helped prop soybeans prices Friday in the best showing of the week.

Soybean oil showed a slight advance, mostly in the nearby contracts, under increased usage and export authorizations. However, soybean meal declined.

Week In Business

Many Factors Indicate Economy Growth Ahead

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The economy produced encouraging signs this past week of the start of a climb from the doldrums in which business wallowed during most of the first half of this year.

They were:

—Employment in July rose to the highest level in history.
—Total construction activity advanced in June to the highest rate in 13 months.

—Inventory liquidation in July showed a marked improvement.

—Retail sales increased in June to a record total.

These developments and other factors prompted Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler to say that the danger of recession is now past and the outlook is for economic expansion.

The only difference of opinion, he said, is whether that expansion will be moderate or "highly boomy."

Fowler supported President Johnson's proposal of a 10 per cent income tax surcharge, saying its enactment would be consistent with a healthy growing economy.

The Chase Manhattan Bank of New York predicted that the economy will complete a "model adjustment" by the end of the year if consumer spending continues at its present high level.

"Consumer incomes are still rising," the bank said. "Surveys show that the mood of consumers is one of growing optimism—always a favorable augury of spending patterns. And other surveys indicate that their intentions to spend are strong."

Chase cited two major factors as contributing greatly to the smoothness of the adjustment process.

"Inventories, the principal problem, are being brought into line with sales," the bank said. "The rate of inventory building dropped from more than $18 billion in late 1966 to about $2 billion in the second quarter of 1967."

"Investment in new plants and equipment has slowed slightly, following the unsustainable average 16 per cent annual increase of the last three years. With operating rates declining, the incentive to add capacity at the five per cent a year pace that prevailed since 1960 is obviously reduced."

At the same time, the bank said, the over-all effect of these adjustments has been held to modest proportions by gains elsewhere in the economy.

The Labor Department reported that 76.2 million Americans held jobs in July, up 1.6 million from a year earlier. The jobs increase in July was 340,000 larger than normally expected for the month. The unemployment rate dipped to 3.9 per cent of the labor force last month from four per cent in June.

New construction put in place in June totaled $6.9 billion, up nine per cent from May and up one per cent from June 1966, the Commerce Department reported.

The National Association of Purchasing Agents said 35 per cent of its members reported their inventories were down in July. This compared with 32 per cent reporting a decline in June and 31 per cent in April and May.

The same proportion is true all along the line.

There is always the chance that Congress might save the taxpayer even more by delaying the effective date until Jan. 1.

For corporations, the tax bite would be substantially higher both this year and next. The surcharge would still be effective July 1 but at the 10 per cent rate.

Government witnesses are expected to use the potential size of the budget deficit—as much as $29 billion—as their main argument for a surcharge when hearings begin next Monday before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Increased war costs, high interest rates and even sacrifice for U.S. fighting men in Vietnam are other arguments the administration witnesses expect to cite but the deficit is emerging as the main rallying point.

Johnson gave a chalk and blackboard preview of the administration case to a group of House Democrats Tuesday.

House press secretary, reported that between 50 and 60 congressmen assembled in the State Dining Room at the White House, but instead of food they got the financial seminar.

The session, one in a series for congressional groups, lasted about an hour, Christian said, and covered the entire fiscal picture of taxes, finances and budget.

The same proportion is true all along the line.

There is always the chance that Congress might save the taxpayer even more by delaying the effective date until Jan. 1.

For corporations, the tax bite would be substantially higher both this year and next. The surcharge would still be effective July 1 but at the 10 per cent rate.

Government witnesses are expected to use the potential size of the budget deficit—as much as $29 billion—as their main argument for a surcharge when hearings begin next Monday before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Increased war costs, high interest rates and even sacrifice for U.S. fighting men in Vietnam are other arguments the administration witnesses expect to cite but the deficit is emerging as the main rallying point.

Johnson gave a chalk and blackboard preview of the administration case to a group of House Democrats Tuesday.

House press secretary, reported that between 50 and 60 congressmen assembled in the State Dining Room at the White House, but instead of food they got the financial seminar.

The session, one in a series for congressional groups, lasted about an hour, Christian said, and covered the entire fiscal picture of taxes, finances and budget.

The same proportion is true all along the line.

A slightly higher proportion of the total population is employed labor in other major economic powers than in the United States. In all, the employed labor total has been growing at about the same rate as total population.

The six nations of the European Economic Community (Common Market) have shown the greatest percentage increase in Gross National Product in recent years—about 100 per cent—but the United States remains far ahead in actual product value.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Livestock prices were generally mixed at the Chicago Stockyards this week.

After a week of trade, slaughter steers closed 25 to 75 cents higher Friday, while slaughter heifers were unevenly steady to 25 cents higher. Butcher hogs were steady to 50 cents lower and spring slaughter lambs closed steady.

The average price of butcher hogs was the lowest in three months.

Cattle receipts totaled 23,600 for the week, compared with 24,500 a week ago. Prime slaughter steers weighing 1,150 to 1,400 pounds brought 27.75 to 28.50, while mixed high choice and prime 950 to 1,350 pounds

MT. STERLING MAN TO BE MANAGER OF NEW PLANT

MT. STERLING — The new Ralston Purina Feed Mill, to be built at Mt. Sterling will have as its manager Jim Arnold of Mt. Sterling, according to a recent news release.

Mr. Arnold has been employed by the Mt. Sterling (Ford) Motor Agency here.

Mt. Sterling News

Miss Joyce Elbus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Elbus, has been returned to her home here after a week at the Baptist Church camp on Lake Springfield.

Fred Briggs, who has been cared for at the Whited Nursing Home here, is a patient in St. Mary's hospital in Quincy.

Mrs. Lottie Kroft of Mt. Sterling is a patient in St. Mary's hospital in Quincy suffering from injuries she received in an accident.

THUGS RANSACK OSCAR MAYER BUYING STATION

GREENFIELD — The Oscar Mayer buying station on U.S. 67 south of Greenfield was burglarized Thursday night. Arthur Neumann, manager of the firm, reported the unknown intruders made off with 300 company bank drafts which were not signed.

A record of the missing draft numbers has been secured by the authorities. Mr. Neumann found the office strewn with office supplies when he arrived Friday morning.

The thieves gained entrance to the office by breaking the lock on a supply room door adjacent to the office and entered the office from a rear door. They ignored the prizes purchased from Friday's opening. Donald Vinyard, Greene County Sheriff, conducted an investigation and obtained fingerprints believed to be those of the burglars.

Open House was held at the New Oscar Mayer plant Friday with a capacity crowd in attendance. Arthur Neumann, manager, greeted the guests. Door prizes were won by Harold Gibler, Charles Dukcles, Donald Wilton and Carson Scott.

VIETNAM CASUALTIES — American casualties in the Vietnam war approached the 90,000 mark, military officials said Thursday. Casualty reports from last week showed 146 Americans died and another 1,064 wounded. This brought to 89,158 the number of Americans killed, wounded or missing since 1961. Fourteen Americans were listed as missing in action during last week. This UPI chart shows U.S. casualty tolls over a period of 12 weeks with the latest weekly totals appearing in the right hand column of each graph. (UPI Telephoto)

Rain Or Shine

Picnic At Manchester All Day Thursday, Aug. 24

MANCHESTER — A public meeting for people of the Manchester community was held Aug. 9th in the Park Shelter house and arrangements were made at this time for the Homecoming picnic to be held Aug. 24th.

Chester Day is chairman and presided, appointing a number of committees. The new Park Shelter, which was put into use last year for the first time, has been completely finished. One added feature is the purchase of drop curtains on the west side to shield out the evening sun.

The all-day picnic will be held rain or shine. Cliff Allan is the soup maker for the planned 1,200 gallons of burgoo which will be sold both kettle and table service.

There will also be complete fish and chicken dinners with servings starting at 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by the Lester Family with gospel song and there will be other entertainment. There will be a cake contest with four classes: white, devil's food, angel food and miscellaneous. Cash prizes will be awarded. The cakes automatically become property of the picnic committee.

The bicycle and pet parade will start at 2 p.m. and cash prizes will be awarded in three classes for best entries. Picnic Sponsors: There will be a variety of games, bike races, ball throwing, foot races, etc. Sponsors for the picnic are both of the Manchester church, the American Legion and cemetery associations.

Chairman Day announces these committees: Dinner stand, Mrs. John Spradlin, chairman, Lyndal Andras, Maurine Hoots, Betty Lawson, Edith Sooy, Mrs. Lewis Pate, Mrs. Albert Powers. Mr. and Mrs. Bob McKinley, Mrs. Russell Fox, Mrs. Walt Hurt, Mrs. William Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sipes, Louise

Watermelon Is for Pleasure

By GAYNOR MADDOX, Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Q — All my family love watermelon as a cookout dessert. How much food value does it have?

A — Not much. Watermelon is about 92 per cent water with only very minor amounts of vitamins A and C. But it is relatively low in calories and certainly very high in hot weather eating enjoyment.

Q — Is it true that pink grapefruit are more nutritious than white grapefruit?

A — They are both very fine sources of vitamin C but, as a source of vitamin A, pink grapefruit is out in front.

One Killed, 8 Hurt In Head-On Collision Near Springfield

Three Jacksonville residents were injured, one critically, and a Warrensburg woman killed in a head-on collision a half-mile east of Riverton on U.S. 36 at 7:55 a.m. Saturday.

State police said an eastbound auto driven by Otis C. Frazier, 49, of 703 East Douglas blew a right rear tire causing it to run out of control and crash head-on with a westbound auto driven by 54-year-old Odale Brumett of Warrensburg, Ill.

Frazier, an employee at the Church of Our Saviour in Jacksonville, and his son, David, 14, are reported in serious condition at St. John's hospital. His wife, Amelia, 40, is a patient in the intensive care unit of the hospital and is reported in critical condition.

Coroner William C. Telford identified the dead woman as Mrs. Marguerite Brumett, 54, of Warrensburg, a passenger in the car driven by her husband.

The Brumetts' passengers included their two sons, Mark K., 26, and Lloyd, 29, of Decatur, and two grandchildren, Kelly, 7, and Randy, 5, also of Decatur. They were en route to Springfield airport where Lloyd was to board an airplane for Air National Guard summer camp. The elder Brumett as well as the other passengers are reported in fair condition at Springfield hospitals.

Mrs. Brumett's body was removed to the Brindlinger Funeral Home at Decatur.

Sheryl Freeman Crowned State Pork Queen

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Sheryl Freeman, 19, of Jacksonville, a college sophomore, was crowned Miss Pork Queen of Illinois by Gov. Otto Kerner at the Illinois State Fair Saturday. She succeeds Nancy Poirat of Nashville.

A Springfield boy, Tom L. Britz, 13, won the governor's trophy for the best display of vegetables. He has been competing since he was nine. Sam Bickers of rural Palatine won the trophy for the best bushel basket of vegetables.

Barbershoppers Plan Harmony Fair October 28

Forty men from Jacksonville and surrounding area will sponsor a program of barbershop harmony, billed as Harmony Fair, October 28, at the high school auditorium.

These men form the new chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America formed in Jacksonville last April 20. The Fairnest Wheelers, a local group, will make their debut as a performing group. Many other local organizations have heard the group perform in the last few months and have been pleased with their progress.

The Land of Lincoln Chorus of Springfield, recently having placed third in district competition, will be on hand to display their entertaining talents. Also, a part of this group is a quartet called the Vibrations. A prize-winning quartet from St. Louis, The Key Pickers, will spice up the program with plenty of close harmony.

Another local group, the Coachmen, will also present their version of barbershop singing.

Don Engbrecht and Lowell McCulley are serving as co-chairmen for the event, expected to be the first of several annual performances.

Don Litter will be in charge of music and direction for the local group. Homer Keltner will handle the lighting and stage details. Milton Howard is in charge of uniforms and Mickey Walker will handle the finances. Jack Meyer is in charge of programs and Jim Grant is in charge of tickets and publicity will be handled by Dean Welch and Paul Keefner.

Another feature of the Harmony Fair will be the Afterglow, consisting of an impromptu party following the regular show. This will be held at the Elks Club for anyone who wishes to take part.

Three quartets and two choruses will provide plenty of entertainment for the price of the tickets, two dollars each.

DRIVER INJURED LATE FRIDAY

A 20-year-old Jacksonville young man was hospitalized overnight at Holy Cross hospital from injuries sustained about 11:30 p.m. Friday on Route 267 north of Roodhouse.

William Templin, 20, of 36 Sunset Drive apparently lost control of his auto and it ran off the highway and overturned.

He was rushed to the hospital for treatment of injuries and released to his home Saturday. State police investigated at the scene of the accident.

Boundaries Set For Scott ASC Balloting

By Naomi Lawson (Winchester Correspondent) (Telephone 742-3490)

WINCHESTER — The designated boundaries of each community within the county where ASC elections will be held September 19 have been set. The elections will be by mail and ballots, to be postmarked no later than September 19, should be returned to the Scott County ASCS Office in Winchester.

Boundaries of various communities are: Alsey-Glasgow; Bloomfield, North and South Winchester; East Winchester; Pleasant; Exeter-Merritt; Sandy-Manchester; North and South Bluffs-Oxville-Naples.

Three committees and two alternates will be named for each community. The chairman, vice chairman, and third regular member of the committee will also serve as delegates to the county convention, to be held soon thereafter, in which farmers will be elected to fill vacancies on the ASCS County Committee. The alternate committee members will serve as alternate delegates to the convention.

Farmers eligible to cast ballots in the election will be all those who are eligible to participate in one or more of the national farm programs which the committee helps to administer locally.

The farmer may be an owner, tenant, or sharecropper. Persons not of legal voting age who are in charge of the farming operation on the entire farm are also eligible to vote. Eligibility to vote or to hold office as a committeeman is not restricted by reason of race, color, creed or national origin.

Election notices will be sent to all eligible voters on record. A list of such voters is available for public inspection at the ASCS County Office.

Four young men from the Scott County area enlisted in the Armed Forces recently, according to the local draft board. They are: Leonard G. Woodrum, John L. Hartz, Dennis G. Green and Michael J. Cockrell.

Dennis Keith Gregory was inducted in the United States Army on August 1. Eight registrants were sent for physical examinations at that time. Before leaving for St. Louis, they were served coffee and doughnuts by American Legion Post 442.

RNA To Meet

The Royal Neighbors of America will meet at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Singing Hills in Florence.

Those desiring transportation should call Mrs. Jesse Butzbach. Classes Reunited

The graduation classes of the Winchester High School for the years of 1946 and 1947 held a reunion Friday evening at the Blackhawk restaurant.

The dinner meeting began at 7:30 p.m. Eril Little served as master of ceremonies for the 1946 class. (Turn To Page Six)

Summer Theatre

Miss Choate Has Lead For Finale, "Girl Crazy"

A cast headed by Jacksonville's Sherri Choate has been announced by Miss Geraldine Staley, Illinois College Director of Drama for the Gershwin musical, "Girl Crazy!" which will close the Summer Theater '67 season.

The leading players will include Sherri as Frisco Kate, Karen Cox as Molly Malone, Pete Gallatin as Johnny Churchill, John Carpenter of Chandlerville as Zoli Mostel, and Dick Sweeney as Sam Mason.

Stage crews for the show include Jim Reilly of Springfield (assistant to the director), Mary Alice Hughes (set design), Judy Smith (musical director), and Roger Woods of Perry (technical director.)

Other in the cast will include: Dee Chapman of Decatur, LuAnn Clancy, Dwight Collins, Sam Dietrich of Chandlerville, Nancy Hamm, Ann Lukeman, Ann Marie Malone, Jackie Miller, Mark Penza, Andri Simmons, Judy Smith, Patty Sullivan, Terry Walker, and Tom Ward.

Miss Choate, who is quickly becoming something of a celebrity in the Illinois musical-comedy world, last spring received rave reviews for her University of Illinois performance as Fanny Brice in "Funny Girl." Her high school days saw her in leading roles in "Show Boat," "Bye, Bye, Birdie," and as a chorus member in "Carousel."

Last season's summer theater audiences saw Sherri in the "Ah, Wilderness!" cast, as the lead in "Harvey," and as the musical director in "Carnival." This summer season Sherri has played Aunt Abby in "Arsenic and Old Lace," and Madame Arcati in "Blithe Spirit."

The Story Frisco Kate, a barroom songstress, arrives in Custerville (a dead-end, old fashioned western town) only to discover that her old flame—ex-T.V. cowboy and playboy Johnny Churchill—owns a dude ranch in the vicinity.

Kate, accompanied by her ex-husband Zoli, tries to move in on Johnny but is stopped cold by Molly Malone, the local postmistress—until Sam Mason arrives. Sam, Johnny's slick agent, wants Johnny back in front of the T.V. cameras. This means breaking up the local romance. Meanwhile, back at the ranch Johnny has been elected sheriff to clean up Custerville and, in the process, almost gets himself cleaned out.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. Perry Burns, who suffered a heart attack at her home in Chandlerville Thursday evening, is a patient at Holy Cross hospital.

Miss Florence Schaad of Chandlerville is a patient at Schmitt hospital in Beardstown.

Waverly Woman Hurt Saturday

A rural Waverly young woman was treated and released from Holy Cross hospital Saturday night for injuries sustained in a two-car accident one-half mile south of Waverly.

Taken to the hospital by a passing motorist was Judy Scott, 20, of route two, Waverly. State police said that Miss Scott was southbound on a county road, and upon approaching a barricade in her lane of traffic, attempted to pass it.

Miss Scott's car side-swiped a northbound car, driven by Ray Prather, 20, of Waverly, which had attempted to avoid the accident by veering into a ditch. The Scott auto was towed from the scene. Authorities listed the time of the accident as 8:10 p.m.

SERVICE STATION BREAK-IN REPORTED

City police are investigating a break-in at the Everett Shell Station, Hardin and Morton. Authorities said the break-in was discovered shortly before 6 a.m. Nothing was reported missing.

Two Injured At State, Prairie

Two persons were treated for injuries sustained in an accident at the intersection of West State and North Prairie about five o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Taken to Passavant hospital, where they were treated and released, were Sherri Boes, 20, and Michael Boes, 3, both of 213 South Prairie, passengers in a car driven by William Boes, of the same address.

City police said that Boes was westbound on State, preparing to turn south onto Prairie, when his vehicle was struck by a car eastbound unit driven by James A. Charlesworth of the Hotel Douglas.

City police ticketed Boes with failure to yield the right-of-way, and driving on a suspended license. Charlesworth was cited with too fast for conditions. Both vehicles were heavily damaged and towed from the scene.

Local Man Involved In Crash Killing 4

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—"A carload of people were screaming for help. We took the worst first."

So reported George Lawshe, a Channahon fireman who was one of the first rescuers to reach the scene of a chain of accidents early Saturday that involved 10 vehicles, killed four persons and injured 16.

The series of crashes started about 5:40 a.m. CDT in a heavy fog in interstate 55 seven miles south of Joliet.

Mrs. Hanna B. Runions, 81; Marlene Louise Runions, 18; Mrs. Mary K. Runions, 25, and her son by a previous marriage, Jeffrey Tallman, 3, lost their lives.

The pileups involved seven members of the Runions family of Kansas City, Kan., and eight members of a Lloyd family of St. Louis.

Other lesser accidents occurred later on the four-lane highway that cuts diagonally across Illinois from St. Louis to Chicago.

State police gave this account of the sequence in the two northbound lanes:

It started with a minor collision. A car driven by Ervin Childers, 34, Jacksonville, Ill., hit the rear of the auto of Frederick Malone, 22, of Corona, N.Y. A car driven by Jerry Shaw of St. Louis bumped into Childers' automobile.

Childers lives at 1400 Lake-lawn Drive.

Philip De Lise stopped his car because of the accident.

Thomas Dunbar, 47, of Springfield, Ill., halted his truck for the same reason.

Harry Waltrip, 50, of Decatur, Ill., whose truck had a cargo of flammable material, rammed into Dunbar's truck. The Waltrip truck jackknifed.

Lee Lloyd of St. Louis, driving with his wife and six children, halted.

Harold Burns, 32, of Bellevue, Ill., approached, and his truck plowed into Waltrip's truck. Waltrip's truck burst into flames.

Meanwhile, Charles Runions Sr. of Kansas City, Kan., driving a camper, and his son,

Bloomington Boy Wins Jr. Steer Championship

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A 17-year-old Bloomington youth topped 304 exhibitors, including his brother, in the Illinois State Fair junior livestock steer championship show Saturday with an Aberdeen-Angus.

Darrell Hammons, who came out on top after eight hours of judging with "Blackie," received the coveted award from Gov. Otto Kerner.

"It feels good," Darrell commented, to beat his brother, Mike, 16, who exhibited the reserve champion shorthorn. Both will exhibit their prize animals in the open show Monday against adult competition.

Darrell said he has already sold the 920-pound "Blackie" for $775 to Bob Johnson, a Bloomington restaurant operator.

The reserve grand champion of all breeds was a 965-pound shorthorn shown by Dick Hahn, 14, of Minonk, a sophomore at Toluca High School next fall.

The choice of Hahn's animal as champion among the shorthorns, along with Mike Hammons reserve shorthorn winner, was the last judging prior to the choice of Darrell Hammons' animal as the champion of all breeds.

Earlier judges had selected the best Hereford as one shown by Rick Pierce, 17, of Humboldt.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Pierce, Coles County grain farmers.

The reserve hereford champion was shown by Patti Klarich, 14, a girl from Trivolin in Peoria County.

The first champion named was a 920-pound Angus exhibited by Darrell Hammons, 17, of Bloomington, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hammons.

The youth fed, exercised and groomed the animal two hours daily for 14 months in rented pasture.

The reserve Angus champion was shown by Janda Hicks, 16, of Harmon in Lee County.

The Angus animals were among the entrants in the junior division competition for grand champion steer of all breeds. The winner qualifies to show (Turn To Page Six)

Charles Jr., also of Kansas City, driving a car, had pulled up on the right shoulder of the highway.

Flames spread to the camper killing four of its occupants. Mrs. Hanna Runions was the mother of Charles Runions Sr. Mrs. Mary K. Runions was the wife of Charles Runions Jr., Miss Marlene Runions was the daughter of Charles Sr.

The Runions were en route to Winfield, Ill. to visit relatives. Charles Runions Sr. and his namesake son were in St. Joseph's Hospital in serious condition.

Treated and released from the hospital were Mrs. Virginia Runions, 42, wife of the senior Runions; the Lloyds; William Bentz, 23, of Kansas City, Kan.; Dunbar, Waltrip and Yvonne Benson, 23, of St. Louis, who was hurt in the three-car accident that started it all.

Burns was in serious condition at St. James Hospital in Pontiac. Four persons, hurt in one of the ensuing accidents, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital later. Lyman Powe, 29, Milwaukee was released.

The others, also from Milwaukee, are the Misses Desmar Funches, 21, Betty Funches, 23, and Essie Carter, 20, all of 2404 N. 16th St.

Lorenz Schaefer Dies At Home In Beardstown

BEARDSTOWN — Lorenz Henry Schaefer, 76, passed away at 3:15 a.m. Saturday at his home, 1008 Jefferson St. He had been in failing health for some time.

Born in Beardstown June 16, 1891, he was the son of Adam and Augusta Krohe Schaefer. He was married Oct. 26, 1920 to the former Johanne Eberhardt, who survives.

Also surviving are two daughters, Aurelia, wife of Warren S. Fisher of Peoria and Constance, wife of Richard Birkey of Canton; one sister, Mrs. Aurelia Marxhausen of New Ulm, Minn. and one brother, Martin Schaefer of Beardstown.

One brother, Herschel and a granddaughter, Nancy Jo Birkey, preceded him in death.

Mr. Schaefer, a lifelong Beardstown resident, was a member of St. John's Lutheran church and had held office in various church and school organizations for many years. For 25 years, he was associated with Edward Shewe in a shoe repair firm on Second Street in Beardstown. He was later employed in a Beardstown shoe store and operated a shoe repair business at his home.

He was a veteran of World War One, having served with the armed forces in France.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at St. John's Lutheran church, Reverend Edward Lang officiating. Burial will be in St. John's cemetery.

The family will meet friends from 7-9 p.m. Sunday at the Cline Funeral Home. The body will lie in state at the church from noon Monday until time of services.

Draft Call Set At 8 For Month

The local draft board 176 has announced that the September draft call will be eight for induction.

Seventeen Morgan county youths will also be called for physical examinations at the St. Louis induction center.

Mrs. Neece Dies Saturday

Mrs. Howser Neece of St. Charles, Mo., formerly of Jacksonville, passed away Saturday.

Mrs. Neece, also a former resident of Franklin, was the former Elsie Harrison, daughter of Gilbert and Sarah Harrison.

The body is at the Staab Funeral Home in Springfield. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

The Broyhill story is phenomenal indeed! Just 41 short years ago, Tom and Ed Broyhill started their first factory in a rather ignominious building... a blacksmith shop and their first expansion was taking over a bankrupt ironing board factory. A meager beginning, perhaps, but today, Broyhill is the largest privately owned, first generation furniture factory in the United States and ranks in the top 4 of the nation with 14 plants and 5,000 employees. This incredible success is reflected in the fine furniture that is sold throughout the United States, in Canada and in many foreign countries.
